LOS ANGELES BECOMES FIFTH CITY IN U. S. AND MAY BE THE FOURTH

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LOS ANGELES, June 6.—The City of Los Angeles, officially credited in the United States census with a population of 1,231,730, is assured of at least fifth place in the 1930 list of American cities, and is not without hope of fourth place.

Detroit, the census figures of which are not complete, had 992,673 in 1920. To exceed Los Angeles this year, Detroit would have to show an increase of nearly 24 per cent. Los Angeles has grown 113.59 per cent since 1920, but Detroit's big growth came in the decade before 1920.

New York, Chicago and Philadelphia are certain to remain ahead of Los Angeles and Detroit, while Cleveland, with its recently announced 903,000, is definitely left behind by Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, in 1920, ranked tenth, with a population of 576,673. The increase in a decade has been 655,057. The new figure for Los Angeles County, which includes the city, is 2,199,557, an increase of 1,262,102, or 134.88 per cent.

L. G. AHRENS PLEADS GUILTY IN OVERLAND BANK ROBBERY Admits Part in $11,200 Holdup in 1929 in Which Cashier Phelps Was Killed.

Lawrence G. Ahrens, charged with participation in the $11,200 robbery of the Overland State Bank on Jan. 15, 1929, in which Fred V. Phelps, cashier, was killed, pleaded guilty of first degree robbery in Circuit Judge Brackman's court at Clayton today. Sentence was deferred at the suggestion of Associate Prosecuting Attorney Nolte.

Arrested last summer, Ahrens at first confessed participation in the robbery, naming as the others James McGauley, Lawrence McBride and William O'Hara, then repudiated the confession. Sylvester Baldwin, ex-convict, was tried for the murder of Phelps, but a mistrial resulted.

A charge of murder brought against Ahrens and the others he named still stands, Nolte says, and they will be tried later. O'Hara, who has been in Clayton jail for 16 months, is to be tried on the robbery charge Monday. Ahrens also was to have been tried on that date.

NAT GOLDSTEIN FILES FOR 19TH WARD COMMITTEEMAN

Former Circuit Clerk Held That Office Till He Went to Federal Prison.

Nat Goldstein, former Circuit Clerk, today filed as a candidate for Republican City Committee for the Nineteenth Ward, in the primary, which serves as election of committeemen and committeewomen.

Goldstein formerly represented the Nineteenth on the City Committee for several terms. He married, Justice of the Peace Harry Myers, succeeded him when Goldstein went to Leavenworth prison with others convicted in the Jack Daniel whiskey removal conspiracy. Restoration of Goldstein's citizenship made him eligible to seek the place again.

ALTON PREACHER FOUND GUILTY OF ABDUCTING GIRL

The Rev. Alonzo L. Shoemaker, Convicted After Former Choir Singer Testifies Against Him.

SUBJECT TO TERM OF ONE TO 10 YEARS

Pastor Denied on Stand Inducing Bernice Ford to Go With Him or Offering to Marry Her.

The Rev. Alonzo L. Shoemaker, 33-year-old former minister of the Edwards Street Pentecostal Church at Alton, was found guilty by a jury in City Court today of the abduction of Miss Bernice Ford, 19-year-old former member of the choir at his church, on April 27 and 28, 1928, when he took her on a trip to Charleston, Mo., and Morley, Mo.

The verdict carries an indeterminate sentence of one to 10 years, which will be delayed pending a motion for a new trial filed by his attorney immediately after the verdict was returned.

The motion for a new trial is rejected and the verdict upheld after appeal the pastor will begin serving from one to 10 years, the exact amount of time being dependent on the action of the State Parole Board.

Cautioned by Judge Levi Yager that there should be no demonstration as the verdict was read, a gathering which filled the courtroom.

Takes Verdict Calmly. The minister, seated at the counsel table, manifested only an expression of chagrin, and remained impassive, as he did throughout the three days of the trial.

Miss Ford, an attractive young woman, who was the center of interest during the trial, was absent from her place across the counsel table from the pastor when the verdict was read, after spending eight hours deliberating on the case.

The case went to the jury at 4:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with several hundred persons waiting until a late hour last night for a decision in the case. The Rev. Mr. Shoemaker, for the first night since the start of the trial on Monday, was absent from a meeting he is conducting at Nutwood, 20 miles north of Alton. After the verdict, he denied that he would be there tonight if bond were arranged and would continue until action on the motion for a new trial is over.

Testifying as the last witness in his defense, he denied her testimony on Monday in which she said that he induced her to go on the trip and told her to give her parents the excuse that she was going to St. Louis to look for work. He denied, too, her testimony that since his indictment on the charge he had offered to divorce his wife and marry her, if she would drop the charges.

Members of his former congregation testified that Miss Ford had on a number of occasions said that the charges were "all lies," and witnesses for the defense accounted for the release of the girl, who was about the age of 19, on May 27 and 28, 1928, by saying that he was at their homes at Stikeston, Mo. Registers of hotels at Charleston and Morley were introduced by the State to show that he was at a similar name registered at the two hotels on those nights, in company with a girl.

The Rev. Mr. Shoemaker, no longer with the Edwards Street Church, is under indictment on two other charges of abduction of girls formerly in the church orchestra.

MEXICO'S CENSUS 16,404,030; 2,000,000 GAIN SINCE 1921

All States Show Increase Except Colima; Many Cities Grow Rapidly.

MEXICO CITY, June 6.—Mexico's population is 16,404,030, according to the 1921 census. The nation-wide count taken on May 15 showed a gain of approximately 2,000,000 since 1921.

The figures showed 8,965,695 males and 8,438,335 females. A state showed an increase except Colima, which lost 30,000. States showing more than 1,000,000 inhabitants are Jalisco, Michoacan, Oaxaca, Puebla and Vera Cruz.

ZEPPELIN LANDS AT HOME PORT AFTER 19 DAYS

Completes 18,000 - Mile Journey to South America, U. S. and Back to Friedrichshafen.

CHEERING CROWD GREET'S ARRIVAL

Dirigible Avoided Storm Near Lyons by Changing Course.

By the Associated Press.
FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, June 6.—The Graf Zeppelin, home from its 18,000 mile journey to South America and the United States, landed here at 7:22 p. m. (12:22 p. m., St. Louis time).

The Graf thus completed safely a cruise lasting 19 days, during which it made landings in Spain, Brazil and the United States and flew over the North African coast.

The Zeppelin, on the way here from Seville, Spain, avoided a severe electrical storm in the vicinity of Lyons, by changing its course.

A tremendous crowd which had been waiting for hours for the return of the dirigible was on hand to welcome the homecoming voyager. The weather was clear and warm as the ship maneuvered slowly to the landing field. As the landing crew grasped the ropes and brought the Graf back again to its home port, a great shout went up from the crowd.

The progress of the ship to its hangar was as smoothly as could be desired. The crew had arrived at Friedrichshafen, the home of the dirigible, after a huge floral wreath to Dr. Hugo Eckener as the community's tribute to the newest achievement of German airship flying.

Town Decorated With Flags. Local pride expressed itself in floral decorations. Flags were floating from most houses and at the Zeppelin works in the Maybach engineering shop.

Courtesy Brunslein-Zeppelin, daughter of the late Count Zeppelin, was among the numerous enthusiasts crowding into the old town by automobile from all parts of the country.

The Graf left Friedrichshafen Sunday, May 15, and since then made its sixth and seventh crossings of the Atlantic. It left Seville, Spain, May 29, arrived at Pernambuco, Brazil, on the 31st, visited Rio de Janeiro and left Pernambuco May 28 for the United States, arriving at Lakehurst May 31. Two days later it was off again for Seville, arriving there yesterday and remaining just 31 minutes. It discharged some passengers and took on supplies.

Its voyage from Seville to Friedrichshafen, which lasted 14 hours and 47 minutes, was without incident, except for the last few hundred miles when the Graf veered away from the Rhone Valley near Valencia and swung off to the Northeast to Friedrichshafen, in a southerly direction, to avoid a severe electrical storm in the region of Lyons.

U. S. NOT OPPOSED TO SALE OF REPARATION BOND ISSUE

State Department So Notifies New York Bankers $100,000,000 To Be Offered.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 6.—The State Department today advised a syndicate of New York bankers, headed by J. P. Morgan & Co., that it will make no objection to the issuance in the United States of a part of the bonds of the Bank of International Settlement.

The par value of the bonds is $200,000,000 and the share of the United States in the issue will be one-third.

One-third of the issue is to be used as a loan to Germany and the remainder for commercialization of German reparations bonds.

Oliver D. Chalmers, Former Manager of Railroad's Mail and Express Traffic, Pleads Guilty.

USED COMPANY'S FUNDS TO GAMBLE

Manipulations Discovered After Chance Remark by Defaulting Employee of Vandervoort Bank.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 6.—Oliver D. Chalmers, who stole $150,521 from the Frisco Railroad, which employed him as manager of mail and express traffic, was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary on his plea of guilty to forgery and embezzlement charges before Circuit Judge Callahan today.

Chalmers received concurrent sentences of five years on two second degree forgery charges and concurrent sentences of two years on two embezzlement charges.

After his arrest April 11, Chalmers admitted to police he had cashed numerous checks received from newspapers by the Frisco, forging the company name in some instances and using his own signature in others. He lost most of the money in East Side gambling houses, he said. Suit to collect the amount of the checks has been filed by the railroad against Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney Bank, which cashed the checks.

Chalmers' manipulations were discovered when Marvin E. Phillips, former assistant cashier of the bank, after admitting an embezzlement of $11,600, remarked: "I'm not the only one that's taking what doesn't belong to him." When pressed for details, Phillips told of a man who deposited Frisco checks at his window and gambled at the same table he did.

Chalmers, who is 35 years old, and married, lives at 4320A Sheandoah avenue.

Appearing in court with his attorney, William Euer, Chalmers, who was well dressed, seemed unconcerned and posed for a newspaper photographer after the passing of sentence.

He will be taken to the penitentiary at Jefferson City in an automobile this afternoon, accompanied by a Deputy Sheriff.

JOHN D. JR. OFFERS $7,000,000 TRACT TO NEW YORK FOR PARK

He Is Willing to Spend $5,000,000 to En Fract for Public Purposes.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 6.—John D. Rockefeller Jr. offered to the City of New York today a 60-acre tract in Washington Heights, in Northern Manhattan, for a public park, and offered to spend about $5,000,000 to make the tract, valued at $7,000,000, suitable for public purposes.

320 NEW LOCKS FOR SENATORS

Precaution Taken After Several Offices Are Ransacked.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 6.—New locks were placed on doors in the Senate office building today as the result of a number of ransackings of Senators' offices.

Senator McKellar complained recently that his office had been looted and important papers had been scattered by prowlers. Then Senators Smoot and Brock protested similarly and were joined by Senator Johnson, who said his "private, personal correspondence," had been ransacked. There are about 320 new locks, costing about $1080. The Senate recently adopted a resolution providing an additional guard to patrol the corridor in which Senator Johnson's office is situated.

CANNON CONDEMNED IN LETTER TO NORRIS

Texas Woman Says Husband Was Imprisoned for Gambling, Bishop Goes Free.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, June 6.—Irony and sarcasm in a letter from "Rally Gamble, of Cross Roads, Tex.," assailing Bishop Cannon and Claudius H. Euston, chairman of the Republican National Committee, was submitted to the Senate today by Senator Norris (Rep.), of Nebraska. Cannon's stock deals were dealt with at great length to the amusement of the Senators as well as the Wall Street operations of Houston, Norris, with serious face, arose, and said:

"I have here a letter, in the nature of a petition, which I wish the clerk to read."

The letter stated the writer's husband was "Joe Gamble, cashier of the only bank we have here at Cross Roads, Texas."

"Joe," it continued, "bought options in Wall street and lost the bank's money. He did this because religious and political leaders of the world are doing the same thing."

"Joe is now in the penitentiary," it read. "How is it that Joe was sent to the penitentiary when Bishop Cannon did the same thing? Joe is in the penitentiary now and Bishop Cannon can defy the Senate."

After telling that Joe had "cried before the jury," the writer asked, "Why is it that tears before a jury of Methodist preachers are more effective than before a jury of justice?"

"Joe was as good a Methodist as Bishop Cannon. He was superintendent of the Sunday school at Cross Roads. Why is it that Bishop Cannon and Claudius Huston can gamble in Wall street and Joe can't do the same thing? Joe is a good Republican and he led his whole Sunday school into the Hoover camp. Why can't you get him out of the penitentiary?"

The letter also criticized Senator Hastings (Rep.) of Delaware, who recently charged that the only Senators ever invited to the White House were "radicals."

"From your speeches I assume that you must be a regular boarder at the White House, Mr. Norris, and therefore, when you sit and drink the coffee can't you see if you can't get Joe out of the penitentiary?"

Senator Heflin (Dem.) of Alabama, when the clerk had finished reading, demanded to "know what Senators helped to write this letter." Heflin said that "if we are going into this matter then why don't they mention the two Catholic priests who were in Wall street deals the same time Bishop Cannon was."

95 CENTS ON $1 WOULD BE PAID UNDER CONTRACT

Ready Cash Would Be Made Available to the City for Street Widening Program and Other Public Works.

City officials have made an agreement with Stifel, Nicolaus & Co., Inc., St. Louis investment bankers, whereby the latter will buy from the city through a new finance corporation $22,000,000 in benefit assessment bills in condemnation cases, enabling the city to proceed much quicker than it could have done otherwise in completing street openings and widenings and other improvements.

This will make it possible to undertake soon several improvements which have been delayed for years for lack of funds and will facilitate the entire program of condemnation work under the 1923 bond issue.

Benefit bills would be discounted for the city by Stifel, Nicolaus at 95 cents on the dollar, under an ordinance introduced in the Board of Aldermen today. The Board of Estimate and Apportionment, consisting of Mayor Miller, Comptroller Nolte and President Neuh of the Board of Aldermen, has approved the ordinance.

Comptroller Nolte characterized the arrangement as one of the greatest steps the city ever has taken to expedite improvements. Negotiations were conducted for the city by Nolte and other officials. Many street opening and widening projects have been delayed, Nolte pointed out, because the city is unable to pay into court the damages for property taken, since there are long waits in collecting the benefit bills.

Provides Ready Cash. The arrangement now proposed, subject only to aldermanic approval, would provide ready cash with which to pay the damages, as soon as the courts enter final judgment in a condemnation suit. This would enable the city to take possession of the property and start physical work shortly after benefits were sold.

Benefits are the charges assessed against property in a district surrounding an improvement, which is assumed to receive a direct benefit of increased value due to the improvement.

While the city would lose 5 per cent of the value of the benefits by the discount arrangement, it could carry out improvements months and even years sooner than otherwise, and advocates of the scheme have pointed out that this loss might be offset by increased tax revenue resulting from the higher assessment of the benefited property. Financial interests discounting the benefits will receive the interest on deferred payments.

Difficulty in Financing. Although benefits usually exceed damages in condemnations, the city has had difficulty in financing improvements for lack of cash, due to the long time required to collect benefits. General revenue has not been sufficient to make large advances against benefits, and a $2,000,000 revolving fund for this purpose from the 1923 bond issue has been tied up in the slow payment and several lesser widening jobs.

Operation of this scheme would remove an injustice to property owners of streets under condemnation for widening, who sometimes have had to undergo long periods when rent and sale prices were low because of the eventualty that structures would be wrecked.

Stifel, Nicolaus & Co. have agreed to incorporate a finance company, whose capital the bankers will underwrite. The finance company will buy from the city $22,000,000 in benefit bills, the pro-

TARIFF CONFEREES AGREE ON THREE DISPUTED DUTIES

Adopt Schedule for Rayon Filaments, Specialty Cheese and Frozen Cherries; Hit Snag on Watches

VOTE EXPECTED TO BE CLOSE

G. O. P. Leaders Assert They Are Not Alarmed Over Senator Steck's Declaration Against Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Conferees on the tariff bill reached an informal agreement today on the challenged duties on rayon filaments, specialty cheese and frozen cherries.

The conferees accepted the House rate of seven cents a pound but not less than 35 per cent ad valorem on cheese and cheese substitutes. The previous conference rate on cheese was eight cents a pound but not less than 40 per cent, which was subject to a point of order because it eliminated lower Senate levies on specialty cheeses imported for foreign populations. The specialty cheese also was eliminated under the new agreement.

To meet another objection, the conferees mixed a minimum levy of 40 cents a pound on rayon filaments over 40 inches in length and retained the minimum of 45 cents a pound on rayon yarns.

All reference to frozen cherries was eliminated, although it is believed these will come in at 9½ cents a pound and 40 per cent, the rate provided for maraschino and other preserved cherries.

Under another agreement, horses and cattle from Mexico and Canada would be permitted free entry for eight months for pasturage purposes. The previous agreement provided an eight months' period for cattle from Canada and three months for those from Mexico. The House provision was accepted today.

The conferees failed to complete a revision of the contested watch duties and deferred final action until Monday.

The conferees expect to reach a complete agreement Monday in time to report the measure back to the Senate. Senator Suot, (Rep.) Utah, looks for a final vote in the Senate Tuesday or Wednesday. He obtained unanimous consent late today to have a single vote on both conference reports.

Republican leaders are not alarmed over the announcement by Steck (Dem.), Iowa, that he would vote against the bill although he was ready to vote now. They expect the vote to be close, however.

Steck has been regarded as doubtful along with Senator Copeland (Dem.), New York, who also has announced he would oppose the measure on the final roll call.

A close vote is in prospect when the conference reports are put to roll-call tests next week.

The House late yesterday reappointed its conferees. A move by "Congressman Garner of Texas, Democratic leader to have the conferees instructed to accept the Senate's free list of leather and shoes was defeated on a roll call vote, 151 to 104.

Four attempts to impose duties on these commodities failed in the Senate, but the House adopted a schedule fixing an import of 10 per cent on hides, 15½ to 20 per cent on leathers and 20 per cent on shoes. These rates are in the conference report. The commodities at present are on the free list.

URGES USE OF MODERN SCIENCE IN DEALING WITH CRIMINALS

Cincinnati Judge Says Treatment Lags Far Behind Knowledge Now Existing.

BOSTON, June 6.—Judge Charles W. Hoffman of the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court of Cincinnati today urged the use of modern scientific discoveries in the treatment of law breakers, in an address opening the annual conference of the National Probation Association.

"The diagnosis and treatment of the behavior of criminals in concrete cases," Judge Hoffman said, "lags far behind the scientific knowledge and information now existing. We are sometimes led to wonder if doctors will classify before the public permits the use of the discoveries of modern science."

Judge Hoffman, who is vice president of the association, said that intensive methods and physical and psychological examination of offenders after conviction could materially reduce the prison population.

Frank L. Perrin, executive editor of the Christian Science Monitor, advocating the reduction of space devoted by newspapers to crime news, said: "Unwittingly, newspapers are conducting 'schools of crime' by publishing crime news and describing the tricks and exploits of offenders. The few newspapers which have courageously refused to print distressing and revolting crime stories have been applauded by the public. The true function of a newspaper is to educate and not to spread pernicious tales."

She carried calla lilies.

ceeds of which to the city at 35 would be $20,900,000.

The amount to be sold at first must be at least $1,500,000 under the proposed contract, but whether the first sale will exceed that figure depends on what improvements may have reached the stage of final judgment.

Ready for Twelfth St. Job. One notable small improvement on which the city is prepared to proceed is the widening of Twelfth boulevard from 80 to 150 feet for two blocks between Market street and Clark avenue. Two of the most important pending jobs are the widening of Gravois avenue between Russell and Grand boulevards and of Natural Bridge avenue between North Florissant avenue and the western city limit. Together these two have about $2,000,000 in benefit bills. Final judgment can be obtained almost immediately in the Gravois case, as no exceptions to awards are pending, and only one exception is pending in the Natural Bridge case.

The proposed contract set out in the ordinance lists 46 street openings and widenings (of which 22 may be considered of major importance). Memorial Plaza, three playgrounds, the Negro hospital site and the River des Peres park in the southwestern part of the city as specific subjects of benefit bills as they are developed.

The hospital site is at St. Ferdinand and Goode avenues. The playground sites are: Block bounded by Grattan, Dillon and Hickory streets and Park avenue, block bounded by Randolph and Twenty-third streets and Jefferson and Clark avenues, double block bounded by West Belle place, Finney and Vandeventer avenues and Sarah street. The two latter sites are for Negro playgrounds.

The city has not started acquisition of the playground and hospital sites, but has obtained a large part of the Memorial Plaza site by direct purchase with bond money. Some of the street improvements listed have been completed physically, such as Olive street. Sale of benefit bills on Olive street, when final judgment is entered, would release most of the revolving fund.

Street Improvements. Street improvements listed in the contract form are: Alabama avenue, Southwest boulevard to city limits. Clark avenue, Twentieth street to Grand avenue. Eighteenth and Geyer, cut-off. Enright avenue, Taylor to Kingshighway. Florissant avenue, Palm to Waine avenue. Fourteenth street, Chouteau to Gravois. Kingshighway N. W. River view Drive to Kingshighway. Lindell boulevard, Theresa to Grand. Market street, Third to Vandeventer avenue. Morgan street, Third to Spring avenue. Natural Bridge avenue, Palm and North Florissant to city limits. North Grand boulevard, Natural Bridge to Florissant. North Twelfth street, Washington avenue to Palm street. Olive street, Twelfth to Theresa avenue. River des Peres, driveway. Sheridan avenue, Easton avenue to Jefferson avenue. Southwest Highway. South Grand boulevard, Arsenal to West Pine boulevard. South Twelfth street, Gravois avenue. St. Louis avenue, Grand to city limits. Theresa avenue, Market street to Bell avenue. Twelfth street, Market street to Spruce street. Twenty-third street, Washington avenue to St. Charles street. Vandeventer avenue, Chouteau avenue to Hunt avenue. South Broadway. North Broadway. Morganford road. Arsenal street. Southwest avenue and Vandeventer avenue. Manchester avenue. Park avenue. Twelfth street. Jefferson avenue. Hoddiamont avenue. Goodfellow avenue. North Union boulevard. Newstead avenue. North Vandeventer avenue. St. Louis avenue, Broadway to Blair avenue. Carter avenue. Clark avenue. Meramec street. Glasgow avenue. Pope avenue.

What Ordinance Provides. The Mayor and Comptroller would be authorized and directed by the ordinance to execute the contract with Stifel, Nicolaus, which is stated to be "the best and most advantageous offer that may be obtained." It would be provided that the finance company would be entitled to all benefit bills for the improvements specified. Assignment of bills is to be made by the city as soon as final judgment is obtained. The city would agree to release Stifel, Nicolaus and look only to the finance company to carry out the contract when the latter is formed. Should purchase of any of the bills be deemed inadvisable for any reason other than an unfavorable opinion of counsel, Stifel, Nicolaus or the finance company could withdraw from the agreement by payment of $25,000 as liquidated damages.

Calling attention to the fact that the 1923 bonds issue provided $3,650,000 for street openings and widenings and $6,000,000 for Memorial Plaza, the ordinance relates that the city cannot take possession of any of the property involved until the damages are paid into court and that the city lacks the funds to make all the payments and, therefore, cannot avoid delay in consummating plans.

Stifel, Nicolaus announced that their counsel and City Counselor Muench had been working for months on the arrangement and credited civic bodies with giving material assistance.

Senate Passes Canned Goods Bill. By the Associated Press. $15,000,000 WELFARE BOND ISSUE PROPOSED

Aldermanic Committee, After Inspection in East, Recommends Expansion of City Institutions.

A $15,000,000 municipal bond issue, for extensions and additions to city charitable institutions, is recommended by the Committee on Public Welfare of the Board of Aldermen, which reported today to the board upon its recent inspection of city institutions in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, Cleveland, Boston, Washington and Montreal.

St. Louis, the committee concluded, has met its responsibilities to the poor and infirm as well as other cities have done, and the institutions here are fully equal to those found elsewhere in economical administration and effectiveness of service rendered. But most of the other cities, the committee found, are undertaking extensive building programs, and the need for additional space here, particularly for tuberculosis and mental disease patients, calls for a new outlay on the part of St. Louis.

The report does not name specific institutions which should be enlarged, but its mention of the needs of tuberculosis and mental patients points to Koch Hospital, the City Sanitarium and School for the Feeble-Minded as calling for expansion.

The committee recommended also that more use be made of the city harbor boat Erastus Wells, for fresh-air outings for poor children. Such outings, under the supervision of competent physicians, nurses and social workers, it was stated, would be a means of prophylaxis, or protection, against disease and delinquency.

In all the cities visited, the committee says in its report, waiting lists of applicants for admission to tuberculosis institutions were found, and most of the mental disease institutions were overcrowded. The committee noted the modern tendency to skyscraper construction of public hospitals, and the preference for locations near a park or open space capable of landscape treatment, also the building of large porches and verandas, and the connecting of different units by tunnels or inclosed pergolas. New precautions in fire protection were noted.

Separation of Managements. Separation of the business and management of the city is now general, with a medical director in charge of professional service, and an assistant superintendent or steward handling administrative matters.

The committee found the per capita cost of the St. Louis general and contagious disease hospitals to be less than in the other cities, and said the difference was caused chiefly by higher salary scales in other cities.

Improvements in nurses' quarters were suggested, it being found that other cities provide individual rooms for housing student nurses, and furnished them with recreational facilities. Some cities have swimming pools for the nurses, but there is not unanimity on this matter, as some hold that the use of a common swimming pool aids the spread of ear, nose and throat infections in the winter months.

The committee visited municipal airports, and states its opinion that St. Louis "need not apologize" for its part, Lambert-St. Louis Field. "At some of the ports, particularly in Cleveland," the committee said, "more activity was found, but as far as the ports themselves are concerned, the St. Louis airport compares more than favorably. Boston some day will have a wonderful port. It is ideally situated in East Boston, and while the port is reasonably active, there remains a vast amount of work to be done before it can be a class A airport. Philadelphia has not an airport at present, but the city has recently purchased Hog Island, where they hope to develop a class A port."

Alderman A. H. Niederluecke is chairman of the Public Welfare Committee.

Boy, 4, Is Killed in Collision on St. Charles Road

Father and Woman Passenger in Other Car Injured on Curve Mile East of Bridge.

Harry Hutchings Jr., 4-year-old son of a contractor of 3551 Tudor avenue, St. John's Station, died at St. Joseph's Hospital, St. Charles, at 6:15 p. m., yesterday of a fractured skull suffered half an hour earlier in a collision between two automobiles on St. Charles road, one mile east of the St. Charles Bridge.

The child, who had accompanied his father in a coupe driven by Guy Harris, 3987 Tudor avenue, was thrown through the windshield, and struck the radiator of the other machine, driven by Miss Vera L. McKenzie, a tourist, Los Angeles, Cal.

Both machines were wrecked. Hutchings suffered fractured ribs and is in the St. Charles Hospital. Mrs. Willard Jones, Los Angeles, accompanying Miss McKenzie, suffered a severe scalp wound.

The accident occurred on a curve. Miss McKenzie, eastbound, told officers that Harris, driving west, crossed the marker in the center of the highway and, when she applied her brakes in an effort to avoid a collision, her machine skidded.

Two Brothers Badly Injured in Collision. Charles F. Williams, 4004 Linden avenue, and his brother, Lester, 3515 Kennerly avenue, were injured last night when their machine collided with a car driven by Miss Helen Hatcher, a tourist of Evansville, Ind., at Grand boulevard and Dodder street. Lester Williams suffered fractured ribs. Miss Hatcher was not injured.

Alonso Gioe, 86 years old, 613 Chouteau avenue, suffered fractures of the skull and hip when struck by an automobile in front of 1315 Seventh boulevard. Max Hendimayer, Alton, was the driver.

Two small sons of John Krinkel, 1409 South Grand avenue, were seriously injured yesterday when their automobile upset at Boyle avenue and Papin street following a collision with one driven by William Burton, 3886 Page boulevard. City Hospital, suffering from a fractured pelvis and spinal injury and his brother, Donald, 3, to Children's Hospital with a broken leg and spinal injury. Both drivers were arrested.

18TH AMENDMENT REPEAL URGED BY JAMES M. COX

Former Democratic Nominee for President, However, Says Present Status Is Preferable to Saloon.

COLUMBUS, O., June 6.—Repeal of the eighteenth amendment is "unhesitatingly favored" by former Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio, the Democratic presidential nominee in 1920.

Cox injected the prohibition issue into the Ohio campaign at a "victory dinner" of Ohio Democrats here last night at which he was toastmaster. He announced preference for Government control of manufacture and distribution of liquor.

The former Governor was joined in his stand against prohibition by former United States Senator Pomerehne of Cleveland, but the final speaker, former Congressman Martin L. Davey, of Kent, candidate for Governor in 1928, urged that the issue be left alone.

"The people will never change the existing order by bringing back the saloons," Cox said, "nor will private interests ever again be permitted to become selfishly allied on any side of this issue."

"With this understanding, I unhesitatingly favor the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. As between the old saloon order, with its brewery-controlled politics, and whatnot, and the present setup, I would prefer the latter, but we all prefer being compelled to choose between these two extremes. Both are impossible."

Cox said there is need of another governmental provision "which shall in plain terms prohibit the manufacture or traffic in alcoholic liquors anywhere in America by private or corporate interests."

Cox declared the Anti-Saloon League "no longer commands respect as revelations show that most of its leaders have been inspired by job-seeking impulses, and that regardless of its original purposes, it is now a political organization, resorting on occasions to corrupt methods."

He said its name now is a misnomer, as there is no movement for restoration of the saloon.

Cox set to rest various rumors that he would be candidate for Governor or Senator. He declared that he would seek election to no office.

LLOYD GEORGE URGES EQUAL INDEPENDENT BRITISH EMPIRE

Sounds Call for Unity of Nations Before Imperial Press Conference.

LONDON, June 6.—David Lloyd George, Britain's war-time Premier, at the Imperial Press conference today, sounded the call to a new empire unity.

"We have attained equality through unity," he declared, sketching the situation in the days just before the great war and bringing his chronology down to date. "Now let us rival that equality through unity."

"The Dominions," he said, "entered the Versailles conference not as toddlers in the hands of a nurse, but as young men in the full panoply of war, carrying the trophies of their victory with them. We should strive onward until we have welded all the nations of the Empire into one free commonwealth of equal and independent nations, equal, free and independent in a commonwealth of vast opportunities but also with burdens and responsibilities."

House Seeks Ruth Bryan Owen. WASHINGTON, June 6.—The House today adopted a unanimous report of its Elections Committee that Representative Ruth Bryan Owen, Democrat, of the Fourth Florida District, was eligible and entitled to her seat.

SENATE REFUSES TO VOTE ON POISON IN ALCOHOL

Rejects Amendment by Tydings to a Wet, by Vote of 45 to 16.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The Senate today rejected a proposed amendment by Senator Tydings of Maryland, to amend a pending measure by prohibiting the use of poison in denaturing industrial alcohol.

The vote was 45 to 16. Tydings introduced his amendment to require labeling by distillers of canned fruits and vegetables "Why prevent the sale of branded vegetables?" he asked, "and refuse to prevent the sale of poisonous liquor?"

Senator Sheppard of Tennessee, arguing against Tydings' amendment, asserted it would deprive present formulae used by the Government in denaturing alcohol. After the vote, Tydings would re-submit his amendment "when some measure for the conservation of wood or paper something else that usually receives unanimous approval here before the Senate."

Sheppard retorted: "The American people voted in the election of human life in the degree when they adopted the eighteenth amendment."

The roll call follows: For amendment: Republican—Bingham, Blaine, Cutting, Glasgow, La Follette, Patterson, Phelps, Reed and Sullivan—Total, 16.

Against: Republican—Brookhart, Capper, Coughlin, Fess, Frazier, Goff, Goldberger, Hale, Hatfield, Hebert, Jones, McCullough, McClure, Hayden, Heflin, McKellar, Robinson of Indiana, Robinson of Kentucky, Steiwer, of Idaho, Vandenberg, Watson and Watson—29.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, June 6.—An estate valued at $400,000, left by the late George F. Getty, operator, it was disclosed yesterday with the filing of his will for probate. He died last Saturday at the age of 74 years.

Virtually the entire estate was left to his widow, Mrs. Sarah Getty. A son, J. Paul Getty, receives $500,000 and a grandson, George Franklin Getty 17, $100,000. Several relatives received trusts of $1000 and $2000.

At the time, was staying in California for his health. He cancelled notation at the foot of the letter read: "J. G. Scratch will you want and return. The word duplicated here is in the will. Think for present would you want in the duplicate have it rewritten. (Signed) J. G. Getty." The introduction of the will was protested.

WEBSTER SEWER DISTRICT BOARD OUSTS CHAIRMAN

E. G. Curtis, Replaced by C. H. Holekamp—Attorneys' $70,000 Contract Canceled.

A radical change in attitude and policy of the Board of Supervisors of the Webster Groves Sewer District, following appointments by Circuit Judge Nolle replacing two of its three members, was disclosed yesterday with reorganization of the board.

The following action was taken: E. G. Curtis, champion of the Ralph sewer law, was removed as chairman of the board. The contract with attorneys, including Robert A. Roessel, who attempted, with Curtis' aid, to obtain a $70,000 fee after agreeing to serve without pay, was canceled.

An order of former members of the board levying a preliminary tax to repay money borrowed from the Boatmen's National Bank, was rescinded.

A resolution providing that work be stopped and that no further expenses be incurred until further order, was adopted.

Holekamp Made Chairman. Curtis, who had served as chairman since the organization of the district, was replaced by Carl H. Holekamp, recently appointed with Dr. F. C. E. Kuhlmann to fill vacancies caused by the expiration of the terms of two other supervisors. Curtis' term expires in 1932.

Supported by Joseph B. Ackfeld, while a member of the board, Curtis has controlled it, the third member—first George Barnett and then, before his appointment to the bench, Circuit Judge Lashly—having criticized various steps taken by the district.

The first district organized under the Ralph law, which since has been subjected to severe criticism as a "plum tree," was the Webster Groves District, and Curtis, as chairman of the Association of Boards of Supervisors, an unofficial body composed of boards of seven St. Louis County sewer districts, has been looked upon as a leader in defending the law.

Barnett resigned as a supervisor when Roessel proposed that attorneys should receive a fee of $70,000, the supervisor contending that it was a breach of good faith to compensate the lawyers in view of the caption of petitions for incorporation of the district which stated that they would serve for nothing.

Lashly was appointed and continued to oppose the payment of attorneys, Curtis and Ackfeld voting over Lashly's remonstrance, to make a contract providing a $17,500 minimum fee and a maximum of $20,000, with a drawing account of $500 a month.

$35,000 Due Bank. How the Boatmen's National Bank will collect $35,000 which it has advanced, since the board voted to rescind the order for a preliminary tax, is not known. The law provides that a tax for preliminary expenses of as much as 10 cents on 100 square feet of property, may be levied.

The Taxpayers' Protective Association, which has been carrying on an intensive campaign against construction of sewers under the Ralph law, has charged that the purpose of the districts in borrowing money from the banks instead of levying the tax immediately, was to prevent taxpayers from knowing they were in the sewer district.

An order for a preliminary tax of 5 cents on 100 square feet, calculated to produce about $60,000, was made by the supervisors last Sept. 26, but the order was not certified to the Assessor and the tax has not been actually levied. In a statement today, Holekamp said: "With litigation brought by the Taxpayers' Protective Association pending against the district, and the general feeling of unrest, not only in Webster Groves but in the entire county, the taxpayers probably would refuse to pay their bills until the courts had decided their legality."

Lien on Property. "If the district proceeds to levy this preliminary tax, there would be a lien on the property and even if the courts held the tax to be illegal, if it is entered on the tax-books, it would mean, in many instances, that real estate owners would be forced to pay it to protect their homes, since mortgage holders can foreclose, if taxes are not paid or secured."

"There is a determined movement," Holekamp continued, "to have the Ralph law repealed or substantially amended by the Legislature next January. If the law should be repealed the tax would be invalidated and yet there would be a lien against the property. We feel that it is unfair and futile to attempt to levy the preliminary tax until we are required to do so by a final order of court in proper proceedings."

"It is needless to say that we cannot consistently authorize expenditure of any more money until pending legal questions are determined."

SCHMOLL SEES MAYOR ABOUT SALISBURY RACE

Miller Appointee "Considering Seriously" Running for Circuit Clerk.

Harry L. Salisbury, Director of Public Welfare and close friend of Mayor Miller, said today that he was "seriously considering" the matter of filing as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Circuit Clerk, against John Schmoll, who is serving his second term and will seek a renomination. Announcement that Salisbury would file was made yesterday by John Field, the Mayor's secretary. Filing time for the August primary ends tonight.

After learning of Field's announcement, Schmoll called on the Mayor. Salisbury, who saw him enter the Mayor's office, was reminded of the 1929 primary, when Schmoll made speeches for former Mayor Kiel and against Miller's renomination.

At that time, Mayor Miller was quoted as saying: "We'll chase John Schmoll down to the levee, and make him walk east on his hat floats."

Schmoll, however, does not think it will be his hat if any, that will be seen floating on the political tide after Aug. 5. His hat was pulled down quite tightly on his forehead, and he stepped briskly, as if to escape the Mayor's reproach, as he left City Hall and started east, though not for the levee.

The Mayor, it is understood, told Schmoll that he had been unable to dissuade Salisbury from the idea of becoming a candidate. He did not give any impression that he would oppose the candidacy of his appointee. On the contrary, Schmoll left quite convinced that the Mayor was for Salisbury.

Schmoll told the Mayor he was afraid that a factional fight over the Circuit Clerkship nomination would hurt the party, but this did not seem to worry the Mayor.

Early in Mayor Miller's second term, Peter Schmoll, the Circuit Clerk's brother, was removed as purchasing agent in the City Supply Commissioner's office. The Mayor said at the time that he was not responsible for this action.

CONTRACT FOR 589 NEW LIGHT STANDARDS IS LET BY CITY

Award of $41,473 to G. L. Tarlton Co. Exhausts Bond Issue Fund of $5,000,000.

A contract for erection of 589 concrete electric light standards in several sections of the city was let to G. L. Tarlton Co. for $41,473 by the Board of Public Service today. The work will exhaust the $5,000,000 provided for street lighting in the bond issue. It has been estimated that $4,000,000 more will be needed to complete the system.

Streets on which the new standards are to be placed are: Kingshighway Northwest, from Kingshighway to Florissant avenue; Union boulevard, from Theodosia avenue to Bircher-Kingshighway; Nottingham avenue, from Hampton to Donovan; and Hodiamont avenue, from Maple to Easton avenue.

Circus Fat Woman Gets Divorce.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 6.—Viola Barton, who weighs 370 pounds, former fat lady of the circus, obtained a divorce yesterday from Arthur C. Barton, circus novelty salesman, because his alleged cruelty caused her to "dwindle away" until she lost her job.

Mrs. Barton said she weighed 513 pounds when she was married six years ago. Intoxication and attention to other women were among the specific allegations.

PLANE REPORTED USED TO RUN LIQUOR IN U. S. CONFISCATED

Craft, With Facilities for Carrying 20 Cases in Fuelage, Held at Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 6.—An airplane which officers said had been used for hauling liquor from Canada to Detroit was confiscated last night at the terminal hangar of this Municipal Airport by agents from the office of the United States Collector of Customs.

The seizure was made in co-operation with agents under Alexander Jamies, chief special prohibition agent here, who had been notified that the ship was headed this way. It contained no liquor, but had facilities for carrying 20 cases in the fuelage tank of the cockpit, Jamies said. The motor had been removed, presumably to thwart identification of the ship, he added.

Jamies said the plane belonged to William Ellis of Chicago and that George Kelly of Detroit had been the pilot, but that no action is pending against either man. Label proceedings for forfeiting of the plane are to be started in Federal Court.

DENTIST IN HOSPITAL DESCRIBES ATTACK

Dr. R. F. Lence of Webster Groves Says Men Beat and Robbed Him.

Dr. Robert F. Lence, Webster Groves dentist who was bound to the chair in his office yesterday afternoon and severely beaten by three men, at St. Mary's Hospital today gave his account of the attack to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "I think they were robbers," he said. "They took what change I had in my pockets and the gold I keep in the office for emergencies and crowns. I didn't recognize any of them. They wore handkerchiefs over their faces."

Dr. Lence said the men were not the same ones who visited his office a month ago and forced him to make out a check for $100. Payment of the check was refused when a Webster Groves bank teller suspected its validity and the men escaped.

Dr. Lence suffered numerous cuts and bruises about the head and his right hand was broken in the struggle yesterday afternoon. His assailants gagged him with a towel and other occupants of the Gorelock Building, in which his office is located, heard no outcry. One of the men beat him over the head with a revolver butt, the others struck him with their fists and kicked him. Dr. Lence said the revolver butt was broken in the struggle and pieces of it were found in the office.

The attack did not become known until Dr. Lence succeeded in freeing himself after his assailants left. He stumbled to the hall, where he collapsed. Other tenants of the building recalled that three men had left his office a short time before and had been seen running toward the Missouri Pacific railroad tracks, a block north. A freight train was passing at the time.

Dr. Lence is about 40 years old, married and has one child. He lives at 509 Cherry street, Webster Groves.

YOUNG WOMAN, 22, LEADER IN 100 HOLDUPS IN DETROIT

Former Hat Checker Tells Police She "Just Vamped the Boys" to Help Her Gang.

DETROIT, Mich., June 6.—A 22-year-old young woman, who seven months ago was a hat checker in a dance hall, boasted to police today that she is responsible for 100 minor holdups in Detroit.

Peggy Mahon, the prisoner, was arrested last night by detectives who were watching a saloon used as a rendezvous by her and her gang. Joseph O'Connor, 23, was arrested with her and four others were taken into custody at other places as members of the gang. All are held on armed robbery charges. "It was easy for me to get boys to help me," she said. "Because I just vamped them and when they still refused to join I told them they were yellow and that usually brought them in."

Police records checked with 15 instances of robberies detailed by O'Connor, who was leaving a taxicab with the young woman when they were arrested. Each had a pistol, police said.

Garner Grabbill, 22, one of the others arrested, confessed to taking part in two holdups, saying he "fell in love with Peggy and she called me 'yellow.'"

GEORGE L. STORM, 28 YEARS IN MISSION WORK, DIES

Organizer and Commander-in-Chief of Associated Christian Volunteers Was 73.

George L. Storm, 73 years old, organizer and commander-in-chief of the Associated Christian Volunteers, engaged in mission work, died at City Hospital yesterday after suffering a paralytic stroke two weeks ago.

Formerly a newspaper man in New York City, he entered mission work with the Salvation Army 26 years ago, and in 1913 incorporated his own association, the activities of which have since spread into nine states.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Barbara Storm, and two sons in New York City. Funeral services will be held at the mission headquarters at 2515 Cass avenue at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, with burial in St. Peter's Cemetery.

U. S. GIRL WEDS-ARGENTINEAN

By the Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES, June 6.—Juan Reynal, internationally known polo player, and Miss Jeanne Hughes, an American girl, were married yesterday in the Nuestra Senora de Las Victorias Church and with a civil ceremony thereafter at the Argentine apartment's father's residence.

Miss Hughes met the poloist in California. She arrived in Buenos Aires recently. The marriage was hastened because Reynal and his father are leaving for Europe in a few days. The bride left today, left for Cordoba for their honeymoon.

ALARM CLOCKS CAUSE DIVORCE

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., June 6.—Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Brooks yesterday was granted a final decree of divorce from Reginald Brooks of New York and Palm Beach. She charged that Brooks had secreted alarm clocks about their Palm Beach home, setting the alarm to sound at one-hour intervals.

She also charged him with parading through the house ringing cow bells and with other acts which she said caused her health to break.

CHILD KILLED IN $150,000 FIRE
by the Associated Press.
LOTHAIR, Ky., June 6.—A 4-year-old boy was burned to death and more than 100 persons were made homeless by a fire which swept the Standard Oil Co. storage plant and surrounding buildings here yesterday. The body of the child, Junior Vanover, son of Grayson Vanover, an employee of the oil company, was found last night. His mother had sent him on an errand to his father, and he evidently was trapped in the plant by the fire.

Standard Oil officers estimated their loss at $100,000 and the damage to homes and adjacent property owned by the Algoma Coal Co. was set at $50,000. Four homes were dynamited to prevent the spread of the flames. The fire started at the oil plant, presumably set by sparks from a smokestack.

TEMPORARY RECEIVER FOR NEGRO LOAN FIRM

Stockholder Takes Action at Clayton Against People's Finance Corporation.

A suit asking for appointment of a receiver for the People's Finance Corporation, a Negro loan company occupying a five-story building owned by the company at the southwest corner of Jefferson avenue and Market street, was filed in Circuit Court at Clayton yesterday by E. L. Fantroy of Kirkwood, a stockholder.

John A. Nolan, an attorney, was appointed temporary receiver under $2500 bond by Judge Mulloy pending a hearing June 13.

This morning Joseph McHenry, a Negro attorney, appeared before Judge Mulloy, stating that he represented Fantroy, who wished to have the receivership proceedings dismissed. Judge Mulloy called attention to the fact that the suit was filed by Ervin F. Vetter, a white lawyer, and delayed acceptance of the petition to dismiss pending a conference with Vetter.

Fantroy, a Negro, alleges in his petition that the company, organized in 1922, has been mismanaged, and that the $5,000 working surplus has been depleted. He also charges that the directors lent themselves money on notes secured by unindorsed capital stock of the company. The principal liability, according to the petition, is a deed of trust for $100,000 against the building occupied by the company. Fantroy states that he owns 20 shares of stock for which he paid $20 a share in 1928, and has received but $3 in dividends during that period.

A. G. Lindsay, manager of the company, stated today that the $100,000 deed is a first mortgage.

Lindsay placed a value of $400,000 on the building, and said that affairs of the concern are "normal." The suit is unwarranted and will be withdrawn," Lindsay declared. Concerning the charge that directors lent money to themselves, Lindsay said that three or four of the 17 directors have "small loans" with the company.

MATCH POLO TOMORROW ON COUNTRY CLUB GROUNDS

St. Louis Team Will Meet Players From Memphis, Another Game Sunday.

The first inter-city polo match this season will be held at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow, when the St. Louis Country Club will play the Memphis Hunt and Polo Club on the country club grounds, Price and Ladue roads.

A close game is expected, although Curtis King of the Memphis team was unable to come to St. Louis because of a bad spill last week. The players will be E. C. Simmons III, E. E. Love Jr., Mahlon E. Wallace Jr. and G. Hayward Niedringhaus for St. Louis, and Dunbar Abston, Samuel Rember, Wilson Fly and Burr Chapman for Memphis.

Parking space, as customary, will be provided on the south and east sides of the polo field, south of the clubhouse. A second game will be played at 3:30 p. m. Sunday.

Chosen for D. of C. Justice.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Jesse C. Adkins, Washington attorney, was nominated today by President Hoover as Associate Justice of the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

DEMOCRATS' CITY TICKET APPROVED BY COMMITTEE

With Drafting of Candidates for State Representative and Senator Slate Will Be Complete.

A slate of candidates prepared by a Citizens' Committee, composed of 28 Democratic leaders, was indorsed last night by the Democratic City Committee, which will immediately start an active campaign for their election in November.

The City Committee will meet tonight at its headquarters in the Calumet Building and before midnight, when the period for filing with the Board of Election Commissioners ends, will complete a ticket by drafting candidates for State Representative or State Senator in any districts where Democrats have not filed for nomination at the primary election, Aug. 5.

In making up the slate for Prosecuting Attorney, Circuit Judges and Probate Judge, the Citizens' Committee consulted St. Louis Bar Association leaders, having voted to accept its indorsements. The Bar Association referendum on candidates for the nominations for these offices will not begin until next Wednesday and will be completed by June 20. Democratic leaders, however, think those named will receive the Bar Association's approval.

Two years ago, Democrats elected Circuit Attorney Franklin H. Miller and Circuit Judges James F. Green, O'Neill Ryan and the late Moses N. Sale. In spite of the heavy Republican plurality, by approving Bar Association's indorsements.

Slate of Candidates.

Few of the candidates have sought office before, business men being chosen in most instances. The slate:

Prosecuting Attorney—Eugene J. Sartorius, 831 Russell avenue, who has law offices at 418 Olive street.

For Circuit Judges (full term)—Judge John T. Fitzsimmons, who was appointed to the bench by Gov. Caulfield after the creation by the Legislature of two additional judges for St. Louis.

James M. Douglas, 4305 Delmar boulevard, associated with the law firm of Nagel and Kirby, who was a Democratic nominee for Circuit Judge in 1928.

James E. King, 5873 Julian avenue, who maintains law offices in the Boatmen's Bank Building.

Spencer M. Thomas, 6173 Pershing avenue, member of the law firm of Jamison and Thomas.

Vincent L. Boleauhin, 4529 Pershing avenue, with law offices at 122 North Seventh street.

Samuel Rosenfeld, who served as Circuit Judge for a period by appointment of Gov. Gardner.

Circuit Judge (unexpired term)—Edgar H. Wayman, 6431 Cabanis avenue, who maintains law offices at 408 Olive street.

Judge of the Court of Criminal Correction, Division No. 1—James J. Milligan, 5211 Washington boulevard.

Judge of the Court of Criminal Correction, Division No. 2 (unexpired term)—Irwin Sale, who was the Democratic nominee for Congress in the Tenth District in 1924.

Probate Judge—Irvine H. Gamble, 5 Shaw place, who maintains law offices in the Syndicate Trust Building.

Collector of the Revenue—W. J. Klostmann, 6016 Enright avenue, president of the Klostmann-Patterson Grain Co., which has offices in the Merchants Exchange Building.

Recorder of Deeds—William P. Lighthouse, Melbourne Hotel, secretary of the William J. Murray Real Estate Co.

License Collector—George W. Hobbs, 4405 West Pine boulevard, formerly a State bank examiner, now a director, secretary and treasurer of the Citizens' Loan and Savings Co.

Circuit Clerk—Lou G. Waldman, 8023 Cates avenue, president of the L. G. Waldman Printing Co.

Clerk of the Circuit Court for Criminal Causes—John L. Wilson, 5387 Northland avenue, a railway employee.

Clerk of the Court of Criminal Correction—Charles F. Jerabek, 1907 Geyer avenue, a member of the realty firm of Stels and Jerabek.

What Committee Considered.

A resolution passed by the Citizens' Committee stated that it had taken into consideration the various business and professional interests which should be represented on a well-rounded ticket, the various racial and church affiliations, the various localities in which the candidates live so as to place officers in different parts of the city, the duties which devolve upon each office and the type of man who would be most eligible through business and professional experience.

Members of the Citizens' Committee were: Glendy B. Arnold, Thomas J. Sheehan, Joseph J. Ward, Circuit Attorney Miller, Samuel Rosenfeld, James Campbell, Joseph T. Davis, C. Bennett Clark, Max G. Baron, John J. Nangle, W. Stone Madden, Charles Lamp, Joseph W. Hannauer, William J. Brennan, X. P. Wilfley, C. M. McDonald, George Moore, David Woodlock, Edward F. Galtzra, George T. Vest, Judge Fred English, Arthur J. Fitzsimmons, William T. Jones, Michael J. Cullinane, John R. McCarthy, Thomas Bond George T. Priest, Bernard F. Dickmann.

BURIAL IN NATIONAL CEMETERY

Body of Louis E. Roedner Brought from France.

The body of Louis E. Roedner, private in L. company, 88th regiment, Third Division, who was killed in action during the World War, was interred with military honors in the National Cemetery at Jefferson Barracks yesterday, after lying buried in France for nearly 11 years.

Roedner was killed Oct. 14, 1918, by high explosives while acting as a runner in the Meuse-Argonne offensive. He was 24 years old. Roedner was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis R. Roedner, 7201 Well avenue. Three brothers also survive.

JEWS APPEAL TO U. S. REGARDING PALESTINE

St. Louis Zionists Protest Against British Move to Suspend Immigration.

The Zionist Organization of St. Louis has asked the United States Government, through the State Department, to "prevent the catastrophe" of the closing of Palestine to further Jewish immigration, by the British Government.

In a letter addressed to Secretary of State Stimson, the Zionist body reviews the riots of last summer in Palestine, and states that the Shaw Commission of Inquiry had undertaken to decide problems of immigration and land purchase, "totally oblivious of the existence of the Balfour Declaration and the Palestine Mandate."

Following this, the letter states, the British Government on May 14 announced the revocation of 3120 certificates of immigration, thus virtually suspending the movement of population of Palestine. May 27, a governmental White Paper was issued.

"In this paper," it is stated, "the British Government accepts generally the report of the Commission of Inquiry; challenges the practicability of the former immigration policy that the economic capacity of the country shall govern new arrivals; and asserts that it will introduce legislation to control the disposition of agricultural lands in Palestine."

"We regard this change of policy as a flagrant and unwarranted violation of the Palestine mandate. What is the purport of the mandate if not to make possible the creation of the Jewish national homeland? Can the Jews attain a majority in Palestine ex nihilo? Stop Jewish immigration to Palestine and you paralyze the growth of the Jewish homeland. Make the purchase of land in Palestine difficult by legislation, and the Jewish position becomes untenable. In what the world justly regards as the Jewish homeland, without free Jewish immigration to Palestine and the unrestricted right to purchase land, the Balfour declaration and the mandate inevitably become scraps of paper."

"We solemnly call upon the great American Government to prevent this catastrophe. We are in Palestine as of right and not on sufferance. Britain has accepted certain covenants. On the strength of these undertakings, 100,000 Jews settled in Palestine since 1920. Scores of millions of dollars were brought into the land, of which amount a substantial portion was invested by American Jewish citizens as an expression of confidence in the mandatory power. These covenants must be fulfilled. Britain cannot use Palestine as a pawn on the Oriental chessboard. When she ceases to encourage the establishment of the Jewish national homeland, she ceases to have any right to Palestine. British rights and Jewish rights to the Holy Land are inextricably bound together."

SAYS DIALECT OF OZARKS IS PUREST ANGLO-SAXON

Scott R. DeKins, in Radio Address, Declares Language Dates Back to Chaucer's Time.

No resident of the big towns need get high hat when he hears a hill-billy shoot his line of Ozark lingo, for, Secretary Scott R. DeKins of the Chamber of Commerce pointed out in an address broadcast by KMOX in the "Ozarks hour" last night, that that line is "the purest unmodified Anglo-Saxon extant."

"When you encounter the 'you uns' and 'we uns' of Macdonald, Tancy and Stone counties," he said, "you're face to face with Elizabethan contractions that survive also in spots like Berkshire on the English coast. When an Ozarkian up and done it, it's a throwback to the unadorned Chaucerian language."

"Roger Ascham, great scholar and tutor of Queen Elizabeth, used to 'fetch' instead of bring, 'holp' instead of help and so do our most natural neighbors of the hills. Their grammatical peculiarities are not corrupted colloquialisms so much as the preservation, unadorned, of a strain of pure English that has been unaffected by three centuries of progress."

Incidentally, he announced that definite assurances had been obtained in Washington that the Ozarks would be inspected as a possible national park, game refuge or reforestation preserve, probably this fall, and that Ozark cows last year produced 20,000,000 pounds of butter, 90,000,000 dozens eggs were produced and strawberries contributed $5,000,000 to Ozark prosperity in 1929.

OWNER OF SALOON INDICTED FOR FIRST DEGREE MURDER

He is Accused of Shooting Former Employee Who Was Working in Another Place.

William Weber, owner of a saloon at 1830 South Eighteenth street, was charged with first-degree murder in an indictment voted yesterday by the grand jury. Weber is accused of shooting to death Irvin Butler, 23 years old, in the saloon of Al Tobias, 1700 Russell boulevard, last May 26. Butler, who was working for Tobias, previously had worked for Weber.

Witnesses at the inquest said Weber had reproached Butler for leaving him, reminding the bartender that he "had picked him up from the gutter." Gus Bauer, another bartender in Weber's saloon, was indicted as an accessory after the fact. He accompanied Weber to Tobias' saloon on the night of the killing.

WRECKING OF OLD U. S. CAPITOL BEGUN

Historic Decorations Are Being Removed and Will Be Preserved.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 6.—Government workers have started tearing out historic decorations from the old brick capitol, a stone's throw from the present monumental structure, preparatory to wrecking the building to make way for a new home for the Supreme Court.

The great carved doors, mirrors and marble mantelpieces of the second seat of American Government were removed and sent to the present capitol for safe keeping. Ancient foot-scrappers, used in their time by John C. Calhoun and other noted men, also were saved.

The actual work of tearing down the building will start soon after June 10 when the Government will give the contract to some wrecking firms. Scenes of past splendor and grim tragedy will evaporate in white dust.

When workmen indifferently tear out the fine old fire places, souvenir hunters snatch eagerly in the debris for bits of brick or marble. They dig shrubs and vines from the old garden and have even carted off a small yew tree.

Women who have been living in the old structure, in its last days a rooming house, are striving to have a bill introduced providing for the removal to Arlington of two bodies of Confederate soldiers supposed to be buried in the yard.

Miss Fannie Wolfson, a suffrage worker who has lived in the old capitol for years, discovered the moss-covered headstones in the back yard, she and Mrs. Charles Taylor are heading the movement to have the bodies removed.

Miss Wolfson has decorated the spot every Memorial day with flags and flowers. There are no inscriptions on the stones, but she says these may have been obliterated by time. Some believe the men were Confederate spies shot when the capitol was used as a prison. Other hard-headed historians smile at what they call the "grave myth." Mrs. Burnita Shelton Matthews, attorney for the National Woman's Party, says she found no record of bodies buried in the yard in her investigations of the building's history. Dr. George E. Wire, librarian of Worcester, Mass., who is doing some research work at the Library of Congress, substantiates Mrs. Matthews' belief.

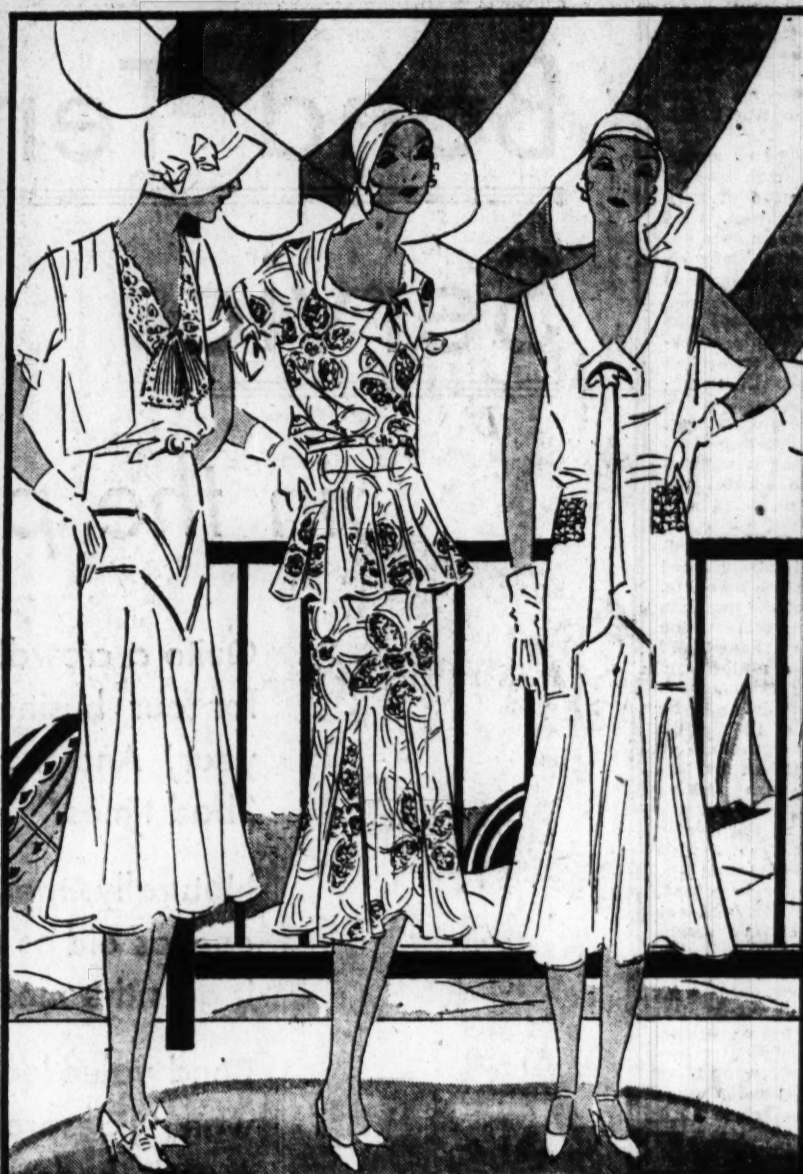

Miss Wolfson, whose home was formerly in New Orleans, contends that the cellar contains buried treasure.

The old building stands across the east plaza from the present capitol, not far from the Senate office building.

WATER WORKS PLANS FOR 1,306,364 USERS

Engineers at Convention Estimate That Number Will Be Served by 1950.

Engineers for the St. Louis municipal waterworks, estimating future demands upon the system, have computed that in 1950 it will be required to serve 1,306,364 residents of St. Louis and St. Louis County, each of whom will require 150 gallons a day. This conclusion was included in a paper by Thomas J. Skinner and Meyer Serkes, engineers for the waterworks, which was read today at the fifth annual convention of the American Water Works Association, meeting at Hotel Jefferson.

In developing and enlarging the St. Louis distribution system provision has been made for large capacity mains to connect with the pipes of the St. Louis County Water Co., in the event that merger of the city and county is effected, the paper stated.

In determining the probable future needs of the city for water consideration was given the trend of population in its various sections and to zoning ordinances which affect the character and growth of certain districts. The paper said:

"From all indications St. Louis will continue to grow steadily, although in common with most large cities the rate of increase will be more gradual. The annexation of St. Louis County will, of course, change the rate of growth."

"Most of the industries of the city are located along the Mississippi River and the Mill Creek Valley. There is considerable room for additional growth along these sites. In the northwestern part of the city a newer industrial area has developed. It is here that the General Electric Co. plans to erect a large plant which will use from 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 gallons of water a day."

"Any expansion of the light manufacturing district downtown would have to take place to the north, south and west and in old residential districts. A greater part of the population growth will take place in the northwestern, southern and southwestern parts of the city. In the central and western parts the population will increase due to the replacement of smaller dwellings by large apartment houses. In the central downtown district it is probable population will decrease. St. Louis County should grow at a more rapid rate than the city itself."

The paper told of the water waste survey recently completed in which the city was divided into seven sections and each section was to a number of districts. The water flowing into each district was measured, and used as a basis for computing probable water requirements up to 1950. In terms of millions of gallons it is estimated that the average daily consumption for 1930 will be 125; for 1935, about 134; for 1940, about 143; for 1945, about 151; for 1950 about 155; for 1955, about 164.

A. J. Newkirk Jr., superintendent of the Elliptical Water Co., of Elliptical, N. J., described for delegates to the convention proper means of providing fire protection for airports. He pointed out that there had been a loss of $1,600,000 in 14 airport fires. He recommended that elevated storage tanks supplied by existing systems or specially drilled wells be built to insure adequate water supply.

MILLIONAIRE'S SON WHO WED MAID LIVES IN GARDEN HOUSE

William W. Willock Jr. Testifies Father Gave Him $25 Monthly and Free Rent.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 6.—William W. Willock Jr., 22 years old, son of the millionaire steel magnate, testified in Supreme Court yesterday that since last November, when he married one of his mother's chambermaids, he has lived with his wife in the gardener's house on his father's Long Island estate at Syosset.

His expenses have averaged $28 weekly, he said, and his father has given him only $20 a month, although giving him free rent and paying his light, gas and electric bills.

Willock's testimony was given at an examination before trial of a $500,000 breach of promise suit brought against him by Catherine McCormack, a servant in his father's house at the time Willock married the maid.

He said he and his wife are living on $120 a month he draws from a bank, where he now has $14,000 on deposit.

CITY-COUNTY PLAN BAD, HUGH K. WAGNER SAYS

Scheme of County Politicians to Hornswoggle City, Annexation Advocate Warns.

Hugh K. Wagner, veteran advocate of outright annexation of St. Louis County by St. Louis, announced in an address before the Knights of the Round Table, of which he is a member, at the Lenox Hotel yesterday, that he would oppose adoption of the plan of the City and County Metropolitan Development Committee for consolidation of the city and county as Greater St. Louis.

He asserted that the plan was "cumbrous and outlandish." The Metropolitan Committee is circulating initiative petitions for an enabling constitutional amendment which it seeks to have placed on the Missouri ballot next November. The amendment would permit a subsequent local vote on the greater city scheme, as drafted under direction of Frank Thomas H. Reed, the committee's consulting expert.

Wagner, whose views on annexation have aroused much antagonism in the county, was not invited into the inner councils of those leading the present movement. He was one of the city members of the 1926 Board of Freeholders who caused submission then of a plan of merger of the county with the city. The city voted overwhelmingly for that proposal, but it was defeated in the county.

Charges Newspaper Conspiracy.

"The newspapers of St. Louis," Wagner charged at the outset of his speech, "have entered into a conspiracy to help put over the Reed plan. Some one experienced in putting over a cause got all the newspapers to agree that they would help put this over."

He declared it was not true that many county residents were opposed to the annexation of the county.

"The proposition in 1926 actually carried in the county," he averred, "but the election machinery was completely in the hands of the opposition, consisting of officeholders and their henchmen, and they returned it with a two to one adverse majority. The officeholders and their followers voted to the last man. After the statute of limitations had run, this became an open secret and the county politicians have admitted we really won."

Immediately after defeat of the 1926 proposition, Wagner went on, "all the county politicians were induced to join the county Chamber of Commerce and one of the arch-politicians of the county chamber launched a scheme to hornswoggle the city. So they got committees from the county and city chambers appointed and out of this came the City and County Metropolitan Development Committee."

Wagner charged that he was "eliminated" from the movement, "because I know the subject." He asserted that Prof. Reed was to receive a $30,000 fee for his services, "although people here could have drafted the plan."

Robert A. Roessel, chairman of the Metropolitan Committee, said today that Reed's fee would be $10,000, plus traveling expenses, "County Politicians' Scheme."

"It's all a scheme fostered by county politicians," Wagner continued, "that, if it goes over, the city shall be muled by the county politicians. There is no reason why the city should allow itself to be hog-tied and turn its powers over to county politicians. The genesis of this plan indicates that will be the result."

Wagner declared the committee's plan amounted to a borough system, which he said was a failure elsewhere. He insisted, in the face of statements by Reed and Roessel to the contrary, that the plan would cause a material increase of taxes in the city and county because of the continued existence within the greater city of the various municipalities.

"There is every reason why the present form of city government should be extended to all the county," Wagner concluded.

CAUGHT IN SEWER CAVE-IN MAN IS FED THROUGH TUBE

Seattle City Inspector Entombed 40 Feet Under Ground; One Man Killed.

By the Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 6.—Surviving entombed at the bottom of a 40-foot sewer trench in West Seattle yesterday afternoon, A. G. Brooks, a city street inspector, was rescued today by workmen who dug a tunnel to extricate him.

Joe Ferro, pipe layer, who was caught at the bottom of the trench with Brooks, was crushed to death, while James Nesci and Dominick d'Agostino, laborers, escaped uninjured.

Rescuers were able shortly before 2 o'clock this morning to give Brooks coffee and brandy through a piece of rubber tubing. He told them he was pinned behind some timbers in a standing position and that one of his legs was caught behind a timber.

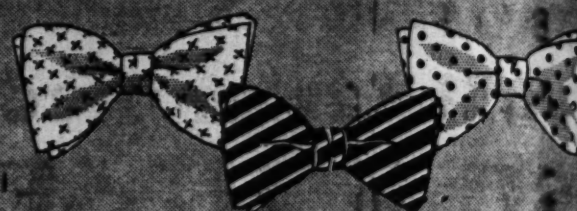

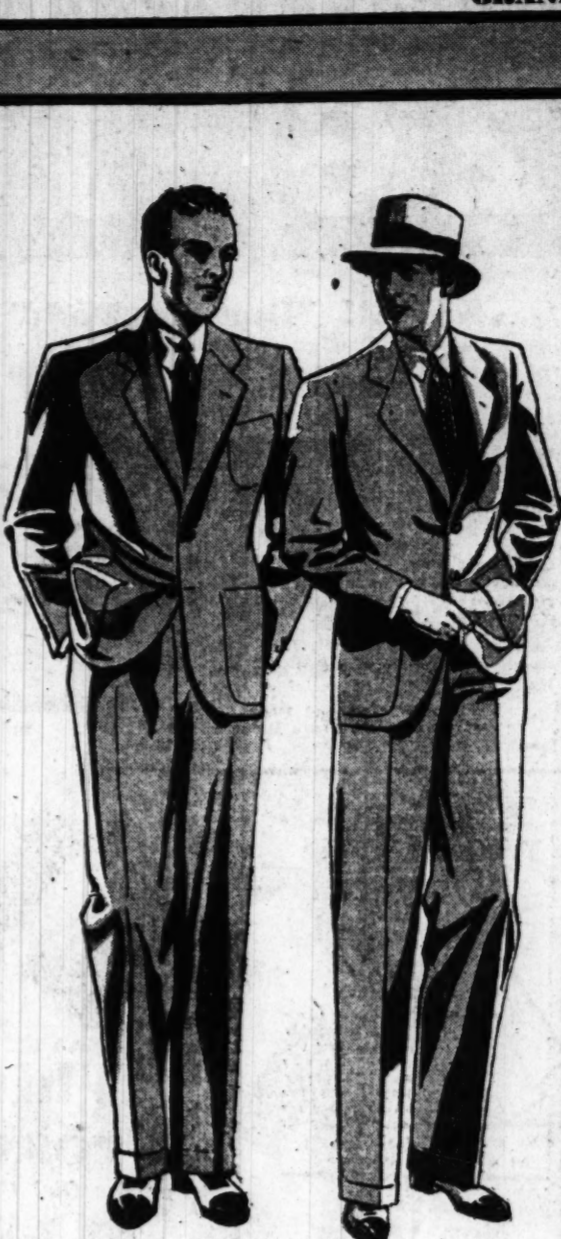

The cause of the cave-in was not immediately determined.

Gambling Held Legal in Cuba.

HAVANA, Cuba, June 6.—Games of chance conducted by the Cuban National Syndicate at La Playa, Marianao, were ruled lawful yesterday by Dr. Juan de Dios Garcia Kholy, legal adviser of the Department of the Interior. A complaint had been made against roulette and other games at the resort. The Secretary of the Interior now has authorized continuation play.

57 ADDITIONAL FIRE INSURANCE FIRMS SUE FOR RATE RISE

File Action in State Court to Force 16 2-3 Pct. Increase—Order Denying Advance Suspended.

BOYD F. CARROLL, The Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch, JEFFERSON CITY, June 6.—The stock fire insurance companies in Missouri moved in the courts for the second time in nine days yesterday to force into effect a 16 2-3 per cent increase in rates for fire, lightning and windstorm insurance. Fifty-seven companies filed suit in Cole County circuit court for review and cancellation of State Insurance Superintendent Joseph B. Thompson's order of last May 28, denying the increase. The increase was applied for Dec. 20 by 139 companies.

The suit for review automatically suspends Thompson's order and enables the companies to put the higher rates into effect immediately pending a final decision by the courts. The companies, however, are required to deposit with the insurance department premiums collected in excess of former rates for refunding to policyholders if the companies lose in the courts.

Previous Action in U. S. Court. The State suit closely follows the action of 157 other companies last May 28, in applying to the Federal District Court here for an injunction to restrain Superintendent Thompson from interfering in any way with these companies in putting the higher rates into effect last June 1. A temporary injunction was granted by Judge Reeves, returnable June 16, and the 157 companies have been charging the higher rates since last June 1.

Both the State and Federal court suits were filed by Robert J. Foloni of Chicago, who was chief counsel for the stock fire insurance companies in their seven-year court fight against a 10 per cent rate reduction for fire, lightning, hail and windstorm insurance ordered by the State in 1923. The United States Supreme Court sustained the reduction last April 14, and the companies have begun the refunding of from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 in excess premiums exacted from policyholders during the litigation.

The two sets of suits have snarled 214 companies to put the 16 2-3 per cent increase into effect, temporarily at least, over the objection of the State Insurance Department, and have placed the department on the defensive in both the Federal and State courts on two different theories of rate-making. The 214 companies are all of those affiliated with the Missouri Inspection Bureau of St. Louis, which represents them in rating matters.

In Federal Court 157 separate suits were filed, each company contending that the department must consider the individual experience of the companies in determining if their rates are reasonable, according to Foloni. Each company asserts it suffered losses on Missouri business for a five-year test period of 1924-1928, inclusive.

Joint Suit in State Court. In the State court the 57 other companies filed a joint suit, contending they had suffered heavy losses in Missouri business based on their aggregate experience for the five-year period. The Missouri law authorizes the superintendent to consider the aggregate experience of the insurance companies for five-year test periods in determining the reasonableness of their rates.

Three other companies operating in Missouri, the General Insurance Co. of Seattle, the National Insurance Co. of Seattle, and the Minnesota Fire Insurance Co., are not parties to the suits and are not charging the increased rates. Two other companies, the Federal Insurance Co. of New Jersey and the Mohawk Insurance Co., which were operating in Missouri when the increase was sought, have withdrawn, Thompson said, and are not writing new business in the State.

The 16 2-3 per cent increase, based on the past volume of business, means an increase of about $2,600,000 a year in insurance premiums paid by Missouri policyholders, according to rate experts of the department.

Filing of the suit yesterday was a surprise to the State Insurance Department, and abruptly terminated a situation, through which the department had hoped to keep the lower rates in effect for at least 60 of the companies.

First Suit Also a Surprise. After denying the rate increase on May 28, the same day the Federal Court injunction suit was filed, Thompson instructed the companies not participating in the injunction suit to maintain their former rates and not adopt the increase under penalty of forfeiture of their licenses and prosecution in the courts. It was thought that maintenance of the former rates by 60 companies would sharply increase the volume of business and weaken the determination of the 157 companies charging higher rates under the temporary injunction to carry on a prolonged court fight to enforce the increase.

Thompson's veto of the increase was sudden, immediately following filing of the injunction suit in Federal Court. His order was issued before the temporary injunction was issued and before notice of the suit was filed on him, but Judge Reeves ruled the order was ineffective as to the 157 companies in that suit pending a final hearing on the temporary injunction.

The Federal Court suit also was a surprise move against the insurance department. When the companies sought the increase last Dec. 20, proposing to put it into effect Feb. 1, Thompson said the companies had agreed to an extension of time to permit the necessary investigation before he passed on the rates. It was estimated that seven or eight months would be required. Thompson was just well under way with his investigation, when the companies went to court to put the higher rates into effect at once.

Thompson Withholds Comment. Thompson declined to comment on the new suit, pending a conference with attorneys. "I have been served with so many court writs that I had better withhold any comment at this time," he said.

In the suit filed yesterday the companies attacked Thompson's disapproval of the increase as unreasonable and arbitrary and alleged it was not supported by evidence and was in excess of his powers. They contend that Thompson, by failing to withdraw the increase "within a reasonable time" after the increased schedule was filed last Dec. 20, had warranted the companies in treating "his failure of action" as an approval of the increase.

The 57 companies contend that all of the Missouri companies, on aggregate experience, suffered an underwriting loss of $19,093,659 in the 1924-1928 test period on the basis of earned premiums less incurred insurance losses and expenses.

On another theory of all premiums received, less expenses and losses actually paid, the companies alleged a deficit of $10,743,068 for the five years, applying the 10 per cent reduction, which was put into effect last August, the companies contended they would have lost $23,295,881 in the five years.

In disapproving the increase, Thompson found the companies had an income of $115,423,623 in the five years, paid expenses and losses of $110,672,997, and made a net profit of $4,750,626.

Two Theories of Accounting. The difference is one of theory in computing profits. The companies contend the proper method is to include as income only the earned premiums, which is the premium for that part of the life of a policy which has run and deduct from that income the expense and incurred losses, which include both insurance claims paid and those pending for settlement but unpaid. The companies contend their investment profits and earned premiums, which constitute that part of the premiums representing the time a policy still has to run, should not be considered. The department contended all premiums collected should be considered, together with investment profits, and that only the expenses and insurance claims actually paid should be deducted.

The case is returnable in Cole County Circuit Court on Oct. 6. Circuit Judge Henry J. Westhues issued a formal order late yesterday, calling attention to the statutory provisions that filing of the suit suspended Thompson's order and required impounding of the excess premiums with the insurance department. The companies were ordered to file reports of excess premiums collected with the court and department every three months, beginning Sept. 15, and pay over the impounded premiums with the filing of the reports.

Attorney-General Shurtleff yesterday appointed Justice D. Bowerback of Kansas City as a special Assistant Attorney-General to be special counsel for the insurance department in the State litigation.

POTTER PALMER MANSION OPEN TO PUBLIC TWO DAYS The Building on Chicago's Lake Shore Drive Will Be Wrecked for Apartment Hotel. By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 6.—The doors of the Potter Palmer mansion on the Gold Coast were opened today to the curious crowds. After a two-day charity benefit, to which a signboard bids "everybody welcome," the building will be given over to the wreckers. An apartment hotel will take its place.

Potter Palmer, merchant and hotel owner, built the house on the Lake Shore drive during the 1880's. The Prince of Wales, who later became King Edward VII. of England, was a guest there and Garfield and McKinley were entertained there.

Build Up Body, Doctors' Way
New Yeast Plus Iron Strengthens Digestion, Appetite, Enriches Blood, Adds Weight
Combined in Pleasant, Easy-to-Take Tablets

Doctors everywhere prescribe Yeast-Plus Iron for weak, thin, under-nourished, pale, run-down people, also for those who are nervous and sleepless; for those whose pale cheeks indicate poor blood, or whose skin looks thin and point to constipation. Get them already combined in pleasant tablets of IRONIZED YEAST from any drugist. See how quickly they make you feel, look and act like a new person. Increase your weight.

High Red Blood, Good Digestion—Build Weight, Health
 It is not what you eat but what you digest that builds solid flesh and strength. Yeast increases your digestive powers. Then more of the food you eat is actually used by your body instead of so much of it being wasted. Yeast also gives new keenness to your appetite. But whether your appetite is good or poor, you need Yeast in order to increase digestion and gain weight and health.

Iron has been prescribed for generations by physicians to give rich red blood and strength. The newly enriched blood also performs its part in the building up process by taking more of the food you assimilate to the parts where it is needed. Thus Yeast and Iron work together to build you up. You must have BOTH to increase health, strength and flesh in the shortest possible time.

Doctors Praise Yeast and Iron
 Doctors say the richest Yeast in brewers' Yeast, the kind used in beer and which makes malt so beneficial. This is the kind which is combined with iron in IRONIZED YEAST. Far more effective, much quicker than iron alone, this new combination of Yeast and Iron work together to build you up. You must have BOTH to increase health, strength and flesh in the shortest possible time.

Two Killed in Wharf Fire.
 By the Associated Press.

AUGUSTA, Ky., June 6.—James Wayson, 74 years old, wharf master, and his adopted son, Hobart, 14, were burned to death in a fire on a wharf belonging to the Greene Line which operates between Cincinnati and Huntington, W. Va. Damage was estimated at $5000.

NEGRO LIFE INSURANCE FIRM TO BE DISSOLVED

Overissue of Stock and Other Irregularities Alleged in Midwest Company.

The Midwest Life Insurance Co., a Negro organization, with headquarters at 2803 Pine street, will be dissolved by court order as the result of alleged overissue of stock and other irregularities in the operation of the business.

Because of lax methods of conducting the business, dissolution may take considerable time, said Fred J. Hoffmeister, attorney for the State Insurance Department, commenting on a liquidation order issued by Circuit Judge Percy Wednesday.

Charles B. King, former president of the company, was arrested yesterday for the Circuit Attorney to answer any charges which may be made. Assets of the company amount to about $200,000, including an equity of $75,000 in the Pine street building. Hoffmeister said the company was capitalized at $100,000, had $180,000 insurance in force and liabilities of $60,000, in addition to $12,000 in unpaid death claims which would be paid out of a $140,000 reserve fund.

Hoffmeister said the overissue of stock amounted to at least 2750 shares with a par value of $10 a share.

BANK ROBBER WOUNDED BY POSSE AND CAPTURED

Negro, 18, Caught Near Baldwin, Ill.; $4000 Loot He Threw Away Is Recovered.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH.

CHESTER, Ill., June 6.—The Negro captured yesterday by a posse composed of residents of Baldwin, Ill., a few hours after he had robbed the State Bank of Baldwin of about $4000 in currency, says he is R. T. Tinson, 18, of Arkansas City, Ark. Previously he had asserted his name was Henderson and that he lived at Tuskegee, Ala.

Tinson was captured in woods near Baldwin after he had been wounded in the right arm in an exchange of shots with the posse. He was placed in the county jail here. His loot was recovered when he tossed it away during the chase. He entered the bank Wednesday night through the transom of a rear door and remained hidden until W. P. Inom, assistant cashier, arrived yesterday morning. He forced Inom to open the vault, placed the money in a sack, and locked Inom in the vault. The pursuit began when Inom set off the burglar alarm from a connection inside the vault.

$750,000 WAREHOUSE PERMIT

International Shoe Co. to Erect Building.

A permit to construct a $750,000 warehouse on the eastern half of the block bounded by Fifteenth, Sixteenth and Morgan streets and Lucas avenue was issued yesterday to the International Shoe Co.

The lot, across Lucas avenue from the company's building at Fifteenth street and Washington avenue, was purchased last spring from Butler Bros. and work is under way. The building, which will be connected on each floor with the present building, will be six stories in height and 200 by 210 feet. Construction will be of concrete and brick veneer, according to the James Black Masonry & Construction Co., which is erecting the building.

J. A. REED TO ADDRESS DEMOCRATS TOMORROW

Former Senator's Speech at Sedalia Rally at 7 P. M. to Be Broadcast.

Former United States Senator James A. Reed was in St. Louis yesterday on personal business and for a conference with St. Louis Democratic leaders on matters connected with the State-wide rally of the Young Democrats' Jefferson Club in Sedalia tomorrow, at which he will be the principal speaker.

He disclosed to reporters that, accompanied by Mrs. Reed and by former Congressman and Mrs. W. A. Rodenberg of East St. Louis, he will sail June 27 for a 10 weeks' tour of Great Britain, France, Germany, Holland, Belgium, Austria and the Balkan states. It will be the first trip abroad for the former Senator.

"When I get back," he facetiously remarked, "I suppose I shall be like all the other tourists. I shall be able to tell exactly what is wrong with all those Governments over there."

Reed avoided a discussion of national political affairs with newspaper men, saying he would comment on several matters he considered of national interest in his Sedalia speech. His talk will be at 7 o'clock and will be broadcast over KMOX.

Preparations have been made for caring for a crowd of 50,000 at Sedalia. The afternoon program will include speeches by former Gov. Gardner and former Gov. Major. A free barbecue dinner will be served.

SOCCER MAKES A SUCCESSFUL NIGHT DEBUT; 2000 FANS ATTEND

ACADEMYS COME FROM BEHIND IN SECOND HALF TO TIE DOLANS

By Dent McSkimming.

So far as the visibility and actual playing of the game are concerned, the benefit soccer double-header at Francis Field, Washington University last night was entirely successful, but as a medium of raising a fund for players Frank Vaughn and Raphael Tracy the program was no great shakes. About 2000 persons witnessed the program, as staged by four clubs of the Twilight Soccer League, but half of them were women, admitted free. The general admission charge was 50 cents. After expenses have been paid, the purse for the players will not amount to much.

Night soccer under flood lights is entirely practical, it was proved to the satisfaction of all present, including several officials of the professional league. Play at all times was perfectly visible, both to players and spectators. The brightly lighted field provided a pleasing picture in which the green grass served as a soft background for the players' bright colored uniforms. The ball was painted white.

Schmeling Says He Will Rely On Speed and Punch to Defeat Sharkey in World Title Bout

This is the first of a series of articles by Max Schmeling, the German heavyweight, who meets Jack Sharkey for the world title June 12, in which he tells of his training. After the bout, Schmeling will tell the details of the battle.

By Max Schmeling.

As Told to a Representative of the Post-Dispatch.

ENDICOTT, N. Y., June 6.—I am banking my chances on capturing the world's heavyweight title on two things—speed and punch. Not only are legs important in carrying a fighter in and out swiftly, but they are important in hitting.

A fighter may have big strong arms with bulging muscles and look horribly fearsome and yet he may not be much of a hitter if he has weak legs. I am using my legs, crowding, sliding, shuffling back and forth swiftly. I am developing these legs. That is why I play 25 holes of golf in the hot sun. The feet must be in good shape, too. You would be surprised what a sore toe or heel or little blister can do. At the end of 15 rounds it can turn into real agony and might even decide a big fight.

There will be no secret training or any other sort of bunk. I do not believe in it. To me, it is foolish and I do not approve of it. When I say I have no plan to fight Sharkey I mean it. If I practice a

41 GOLFERS IN DISTRICT FILE FOR U. S. "OPEN"

NEW YORK, June 6.—Exemptions automatically place many of this country's leading golfers directly into the field for the United States open golf championship at the Interlachen Club, Minneapolis, July 16, 17, 18, but a number of first-rate players face the necessity of winning a berth in the qualifying round June 16. Assignments for the qualifying round, played simultaneously in 20 districts, have been announced by the United States Golf Association.

Under the rules, the first 20 players in the 1929 championship and some Americans playing in foreign competition automatically are qualified but others who did not fare so well at the Winged Foot Club, Mamaroneck, N. Y., last year must take their chances with the rest in the qualifying round.

Several Champions.

In the metropolitan district, Cyril Walker and Johnny Farrell, former open champions; Jess Sweetser and Phil Perkins, former British amateur title-holders; Maurice McCarthy, Eugene Ho-mans, Eddie Held, Canadian amateur champion, Johnny Golden, Bobby Cruikshank, Phil and Mike Turnesa and Bill Mahihorn all are entered in the qualifying round.

John Goodman, who eliminated Bobby Jones in the 1929 amateur championship, will attempt to qualify for the open in the Omaha district and Bud Dudley in the Philadelphia district. Jack Westland, George Dawson and Keefe Carter are among the leading amateurs seeking a qualifying place from the Chicago district. Sam Perry, Southern amateur and intercollegiate champion, will play at Atlanta, and Carl F. Kauffman, public links champion, and Watts Gun, former Walker Cup player, at Pittsburgh. Roland Hannock will try to qualify at Richmond, Al Watrous at Detroit, Jimmy Thompson, nephew of Jock White, at Denver, and Lester Bolstad, former Big Ten champion, at St. Paul.

THE ST. LOUIS ENTRIES.

Tom Kelleher, Normandy, Mo.; James D. Feaver, Kirkwood, Mo.; Sidney Salmons Jr., Westwood Country Club, Clayton, Mo.; Robert Held, St. Louis; M. R. Jordan, North Hills Country Club, Normandy, Mo.; Donald Lambert, St. Louis Country Club, Clayton, Mo.

Johnnie Reeb, Bitherville, Ark.; Frank R. Salts, Indianapolis; Harold Scott, North Hills Country Club, Normandy, Mo.; Herbert Day, Kirkwood, Mo.; An Longworth, Clayton, Mo.; Earl Whitworth, Clayton, Mo.; F. Lewis, North Hills, Normandy, Mo.; Lester Stacey, Clayton, Mo.; Earl Whitworth, Clayton, Mo.; Dr. C. C. McElwain, North Hills, Normandy, Mo.; Ralph Schlegel, Clayton, Mo.

Home Wins for Joplin. By the Associated Press. MUSKOGEE, Okla., June 6.—A home run in the eighth inning by Ed Kallina, giant Joplin first baseman, gave the Miners their second straight one-run victory over Muskogees here last night. The score was 4 to 2.

Memphis Four to Meet St. Louis at Polo Tomorrow

After recent vigorous sessions in which they have played good early season form, the St. Louis Country Club polo team will open their season here tomorrow with the first of a two-game series with the Memphis Country Club. The second game will be played Sunday afternoon. Both contests will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

The lineup for the Memphis Country Club team is listed below in action at No. 1: Ned Simmons, No. 2; Mahlon Wallace Jr., No. 3; Haywood Niedringhaus, No. 4. The Memphis first-string players are Dunbar Abston, Clarence Thompson, Wilson Fly and Ben Chapman, positions 1, 2, 3 and 4, respectively.

Tyler Place Presbyterian church, the present holder of the William H. Rehnart trophy, is again held as a probable favorite. The Webster Groves Presbyterian team with more money than the Tyler Place team, will give a great deal of competition. The Kingshighway Presbyterian team with Dave Cook as leading man, and the Webster Presbyterian team with Bill O'Connell as star, should offer strong opposition to the Webster Groves team.

The Maplewood M. E. team with its entries will probably be heated from before the meet is over, while the Bowman M. E. team from the North Side, while not a great number of entries, have several good men who bid fair to score points in their particular events.

John Gilmore from Webster Groves Presbyterian and star trackman from Washington University will probably carry away individual high point honors, although Howard Lawler of the Bowman M. E. Church, and star trackman from Missouri, also will give Gilmore a great deal of competition.

There is a total entry of 175 men entered in the various events exclusive of 20 relay teams which have been entered.

Edward Stahl, the former national sprint champion, will be the official starter of all the track events with Roy Newsome as clerk of the course. Oscar D. Layton is official scorer. William H. Reinhardt will act in the capacity of chief judge. Preliminaries in the midweek event will begin promptly at 1:30, while the senior events in the senior and intermediate divisions will start promptly at 2 o'clock.

ATTEND TOMORROW'S RACING

Memphis Four to Meet St. Louis at Polo Tomorrow

After recent vigorous sessions in which they have displayed good early season form, the Memphis Country Club poloists will open their season here tomorrow with the first of a two-game series with the Memphis Country Club. The second game will be played Sunday afternoon. Both contests will begin at 2:30 o'clock. The lineup of the St. Louis Country Club team is intact from last year. Bud Love will again be in action at No. 1; Ned Simmons, No. 2; Mahon Wallace Jr., 3; and Hayward Niedringhaus, 4. The Memphis first-string players are Dunbar Abston, Clarence Reubens, Wilson Fly and Ben Chapman, at positions 1, 2, 3 and 4, respectively.

175 ENTERED IN SUNDAY SCHOOL TRACK MEET

The largest entry in the history of the Sunday School Track Meet has been made for the meet to be held tomorrow at Francis Field at 1:30 p.m. Many of the outstanding high school stars of the past season have entered the various events.

Tyler Place Presbyterian church, the present holder of the William H. Rothbard trophy, is again held as a slight favorite. The Webster Groves Presbyterian team with one more entry than the Tyler Place team will give a great deal of competition to the Webster Groves and Tyler Place teams.

The Maplewood M. E. team with 17 entries will probably be heard from before the meet is over, while the Bowman M. E. team from the North side, while not so great in number of entries, have several very good men who bid fair to gain points in their particular events.

John Gilmore from Webster Groves Presbyterian, and star track man from Washington University, will probably carry away individual high point honors, although Howard Lawler of the Bowman M. E. church, and star track man from Missouri University, should give Gilmore a great deal of competition.

There is a total entry of 175 men entered in the various events exclusive of 20 relay teams which have been entered.

Erwin Muhl, the former national sprint champion, will be the official starter of all the track events with Roy Newsome as clerk of the course. Oscar D. Layton as official scorer. William H. Reinhardt will act in the capacity of chief judge. Preliminaries in the midweek events will begin promptly at 1:30, while the senior events in the senior and intermediate divisions will start promptly at 2 o'clock.

DAWES CRITICISES AMERICAN SOCIAL SEEKERS IN BRITAIN

Ambassador in Speech at Cambridge by Implication Assails Those Who Seek representation at Court.

By the Associated Press.
CAMBRIDGE, England, June 6.
—United States Ambassador Dawes, addressing a dinner given last night by the Masters and fellows of Trinity College, paid tribute to the American Gold Star Others and made caustic reference to American social seekers in Great Britain. The Ambassador responded in behalf of 17 noted persons who had received honorary degrees from Cambridge earlier yesterday. He himself received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Dawes referred only indirectly to those Americans who seek social preference, bringing this up in connection with the recent visit of the Gold Star Mothers to whom he referred as "the best representatives of my people."

The Ambassador's address was mainly on Anglo-American relations. He said: "Reference has been made to the friendly relations of the two English-speaking peoples. It exists, and why?"

"It is not because of what Ambassadors may say or do. It is not because of what self-appointed spokesmen of the peoples of either country may say or do.

"The friendly attitude of the two English-speaking peoples exists because of a blood tie, and thus rests upon a foundation as immovable as the Rock of Gibraltar.

"I have the honor to represent in this country the Government of a people of over 120,000,000 population, of whom half are of British descent. In my country, therefore, there are at least 10,000,000 more people of British descent than live in the island of Britain itself.

"The history of this portion of my people up to 200 years ago is the history of the British people, their traditions are the traditions of the British people; and through the last 200 years, and still, they have preserved the British traditions of free Government, or minority and individual rights, of law and order and of liberty under the law.

"As American Ambassador, I come frequently into contact with certain traveled Britains and Americans who are continual purveyors of the trivial and irritating in international relationship. They do not seem to have sensed the inevitable consequence of an existing tie of blood upon the permanent and fundamental attitude of the two peoples.

"Praises Gold Star Mothers.
"But we have recently had in London a body of American travelers representing a cross section of the American people, representing the heart and soul of the American people, representing the bone and sinew of the American people and the proud attitude of the American people—a body of travelers not self-invited, with their minds occupied by thoughts of society reporters or fashionable dressmakers, but mothers invited by the Government of the United States to make their first and last visit to the graves of their sons in France who fell in the Twenty-seventh and Thirtieth divisions of the American army, fighting under British command by the side of their comrades of the British army.

"They brought no social introduction. The credentials which each carried were but the photograph of a son and a few withered flowers from a garden at home to lay on a grave in France. They needed no more.

"The heads of many of them were gray and the years had left them feeble, but the heartbeats of two great peoples were keeping time with their footsteps.

"My Prongest Hour."
"As Ambassador of the United States I met them at Westminster Hall, where they were assembled at the invitation of the British Government. That to me, was the proudest hour of my sojourn here.

"There I presented the best representatives of my people to those who represented His Majesty the King, British Legion and British people—most of them likewise personally bereaved—and they met with that emotion and affection which a common understanding, a common suffering and a common blood alone make possible.

"I shall ever remember it, for then the strength of the tie between the English speaking peoples could be measured in its full and lasting strength.

"It is well for the world that this tie exists, for in the joint hands of these two peoples rest the Ark of the Covenant of human freedom."

Fined for Low Grade Goods.

ECISION AWAITS
CARAWAY'S RETURN

Attitude Puzzling Because He Had Prepared to Examine Prelate on Buck-shop Dealings.

By PAUL E. ANDERSON,
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 6. — Members of the Senate Lobby Committee, still slightly dazed from the shock they received yesterday from Bishop James Cannon Jr. of the Methodist Church, South, defied them by walking out while being questioned concerning his discussion of anti-Smith campaign ads in 1928, have not yet decided what action they will take.
Decision probably will be postponed until the return of Chairman Caraway from Arkansas next week.

Among the members of the committee there is a wide divergence of opinion regarding the proper course to be pursued, and regarding the committee's authority to sue it. Among other members the Senate, on whom the Bishop's challenge produced a profound reaction, still other views were discussed today:

1. For the committee to immediately report to the Senate, requesting that the Bishop be certified to the United States District Attorney for prosecution under the contempt statute, as was done in the cases of Harry Sinclair and Robert W.
Taft, oil magnates.

2. For the committee to place in its record documentary evidence, now in its possession, showing that Bishop Cannon lost large sums of money through a New York buck-shop, then wait to see whether Congress chooses to explain the source of those sums.

3. For the committee to ask the Senate for additional authority, empowering it to inquire fully into the Bishop's political and financial operations, and then subpoena him for an exhaustive cross-examination.

4. For the committee, proceeding on its present authority, to subpoena him for questioning, with the intention of instituting contempt proceedings if he refuses to answer.

Caraway Held Responsible.

Three members of the committee, W. A. Rorer (Dem.), Montgomery (Rep.), Wisconsin, and Borah (Rep.), Idaho, are opposed to any action pending Caraway's return. Aside from the fact that Caraway is the chairman, they are opposed by a determination to impeach him for his responsibility or whatever steps are taken.
They are resentful of his action in arranging for Cannon's appearance before going to Arkansas, where he made a statement apparently supporting the Bishop's refusal to testify.

"This baby belongs on his doorstep, and that is just where he will find it when he returns to Washington," one of them declared yesterday.

The fifth member of the committee, Robinson (Rep.) of Indiana, has been conducting an open fil-luster against any examination of Bishop Cannon for the last three days. After subjecting Henry Curran of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment to a seven-day grilling on the political activity of the wet organization, Robinson absented himself when Cannon appeared, and announced that he would not consent to fill out a report.

Views of Committee men.
Nevertheless, Walsh is not in favor of an immediate contempt proceeding. Although he thinks the committee possesses authority under its present resolution to proceed with the questions which Cannon refused to answer, he is inclined to ask the Senate for an extension of power which would quiet all doubts. Blaine holds the same view.

Borah, differing slightly, considers the present resolution inadequate, and has indicated that he would favor asking for additional authority.

From Senators outside the committee came the demand that the committee proceed at once to inroduce its documentary evidence of the Bishop's buck shop dealings. They think that public pressure for an explanation of the sums he lost through speculation would compel him to return voluntarily to the witness stand.

Publishing Co., (The New York World)LONDON, June 6.—A violent attack on American movies for their alleged bad effect on young persons and for the anti-British sentiment of some of them was made yesterday by Sir James Parr, former New Zealand High Commissioner in London. He spoke under the auspices of the British Film Institute, on "The Americanization of the Dominions by Films."Parr, who was elected President of the British Empire Film Institute, followed his home today for a few hours before leaving for

HE SEES NO OCCASION TO SUBPENA BISHOP CANNON

By the Associated Press.

JONESBORO, Ark., June 6.

LEAVING his home today for a few hours before leaving for Washington, Mo., and then for Washington, D. C., where he is chairman of the Senate Lobby Committee, said he had no intention at present of ordering a subpoena issued for Bishop James Cannon Jr., who yesterday walked out on the Lobby committee.I see no occasion to insist on the Bishop testifying, Caraway said. "The investigation is aimed at lobbying and not political matters. I do not know all the facts that have developed since I left Washington but as he came at his own request, if he did not care to answer questions he should be excused, is the view I have taken."Jameson, New York insurance broker, contributed a total of $172,000 to the election of Hoover, of which $65,300 was handed to Bishop Cannon. On the high instance the sum was delivered in cash. He has accounted for $17,000, by stating that he turned it over to the headquarters committee of the Anti-Smith Democrats. On the other hand, records of that organization show that slightly more than $17,000 was repaid to him.As to the remaining $65,300, the Bishop has made a general statement to the effect that it was expended in behalf of the Virginia Anti-Smith Democrats, a State organization. He has made no detailed accounting, and has refused to name the persons to whom the money was paid.Whether the Senate would consent to broaden the Lobby Committee's powers to include an investigation of political expenditures in the 1928 campaign is problematical. Serious opposition might arise on the ground that it would be discrimination to single out Cannon's activities, and that an investigation of similar activities throughout the country would be out of the question.

Walsh Wants Broader Powers.

That is for the Senate to decide, said Senator Walsh. "If the Senate is unwilling to give us the necessary authority to complete an inquiry which we have already started, it hardly seems worth while to press a charge of contempt against Bishop Cannon. If the Senate thinks he should not give the information he has refused to give, it could not reasonably prosecute him for refusing to give it."Inquiries made by Blaine have convinced the intimation that Jameson did not contribute his own money, but that it was collected from a variety of sources interested in defeating Smith, and contributed through Jameson. Some Senators are manifesting extreme eagerness to push this phase of the investigation, with a particular view to ascertaining whether any of the money came from the electric power interests. There is no evidence of this in the record thus far.

Caraway's Shift Puzzling.

The mystery of Senator Caraway's apparent change of heart became greater, when it was ascertained that he had gone to great pains to prepare for a thorough cross-examination of Bishop Cannon. He not only laid the ground work by conducting personally an exhaustive examination of Jameson, but he sent the committee investigator to New York to obtain the records of Cannon's transactions with two bucket shops. Through this foresight on Caraway's part the committee was prepared to confront Cannon with the records, and to ask him for an explanation.

In connection with his sudden recent years, but nothing has emerged in seriousness the menace that has affected the whole empire in having our young people brought up with American ideas, with an attitude that isn't wholesome as regards the future of the empire.I am particularly concerned with the type of picture that comes from Hollywood and more particularly with the horrible posters of salacious, disgusting pictures. What is the effect on many young minds, on young people approaching adolescence of these horrible abortions we see on the streets? If it weren't so tragic, it would be comic to think that the British Empire is revealing its education from a place called Hollywood, for the film as an educational factor has no superior. Many of these American films are anti-British in their attitude.Referring to the advent of the talkies, he went on: "In New Zealand we can truthfully say we are rather fed up with foreign dialects. The Dominions want British voices and British acting."change of front, many newspapers called attention to the confidence that the Rev. A. C. Millar, who led Cannon's defense against the charge of gambling at the recent Dallas conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is also the editor of the Arkansas Methodist, and a power in the Arkansas Anti-Saloon League.The Post-Dispatch correspondent

at Little Rock asked the Rev. Mr.
Millar if he had conferred with Caraway on the subject since the Senator's arrival in the State, and received an emphatic denial. He said he had not seen Caraway. Consequently, the question gitting Caraway's colleagues and others here is:

Who did see him?

which enables the entire Jewish population of the small towns to become artisans, relieves them of fear of high taxes and eventually will permit them to go into Soviet industry as qualified workers was issued yesterday by the Soviet Cabinet.This decree is only a part of the relief program which the Soviet Government has in mind for the Jews of the small towns.

BILL TO BOOST JUDGES' PAY

WASHINGTON, June 6.—A bill to increase the salaries of Federal Judges will be introduced today by Senator Wagner (Dem.), New York.Under the measure, the salaries of Judges of the Circuit Court of Appeals would be increased from $12,000 to $17,500. District Judges from $10,000 to $12,500, and Judges of the Customs Courts from $10,000 to $12,500. It would not affect Supreme Court Justices.

TARIFF SENDS UP COST OF LIVING IN PORTUGALMinister of Finance However Holds Duties Effective Last Jan. 6 Are Indispensable.

by the Associated Press.

LISBON, June 6.—Surrounded by high tariff walls, Portugal may become one of the most expensive countries in Europe. Import duties on so many items have been increased that the cost of living, already high, threatens to continue its upward trend.The new tariff went into effect Jan. 6. High duties are imposed on goods that Portugal produces.
Foodstuffs are taxed lightly. The Minister of Finance held the reform was indispensable for the protection of home industries and to end dumping of foreign goods which drove national goods from the local market.The Portuguese Government derives 40 per cent of its income from the customs. These in 1929 yielded $70,000,000, and revenue for the present fiscal year is expected to be considerably higher.Newspaper publishers say the paper they must import carries too high a duty. Imported butter, chocolates, tea, soaps, perfumery and silk material have become high priced. Increases have been levied upon perfumes, motor cars, tires, gasoline and oils.Quarters friendly to the Government say that in a country like Portugal, the only one perhaps which has not instituted income tax and where direct taxation is most popular, the tariff reform was an inescapable necessity.YALE GRADUATE GETS YEAR passengers at Southampton during the last three months. He pleaded guilty of 24 charges.In a statement to the court Daly said: "I have no plausible excuse

mand of 50 Europeans with revolvers, surrounded the headquarters of the All-India National Congress here today and raided the premises. It was the third police raid since the beginning of Mahatma Gandhi's civil disobedience campaign. Police seized copies of the Congress Bulletin, which was still being published in contravention to a recent prohibitory order.Six members of the Bombay Congress committee's war council were arrested, including President Joshi.
Picketing of Shops Begun.
Picketing of European shops in the fort or foreign quarter of the city began today in accordance with decision of the Bombay war council of the Congress.Two volunteers, dressed in khaki shorts and wearing Gandhi caps, took their positions in front of each of 12 European shops and urged Indians not to enter. Europeans were not approached.A humorous touch was added to the proceedings by one European firm of outfitters which provided stools on which the Nationalist volunteers might sit.British forces in the northwest frontier province, centering about Peshawar, are thought to be sufficient to meet an advance of hostile tribesmen against the city, but the situation was such as to cause some apprehension of serious fighting.A large force of Afridis and Zakka Khels was understood to be moving upon Peshawar. Unrest was said to be increasing among tribes further north.Tuesday, two buses returning empty from Subhan Khwar were ambushed on the way to Shabkadar Fort. The driver of the first bus was shot dead, and his vehicle burned, but the second driver escaped with minor wounds.BURIED CITY REPORTED FOUND
BY EXPLORERS IN VERA CRUZTown of Mysterious Origin Shows
Traces of Mayan Habitation, Party Declares.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, June 6.—Dispatches from Puerto Mexico, reported that a group of oil explorers found a buried city of mysterious origin in the uninhabited southern part of the state of Vera Cruz.The party set out from San Juan de los Rios and found the city along the River Platan. It appeared to have been of considerable size, with streets laid out in regular order.The inscriptions apparently were Mayan, and various mummies and interesting art objects were found.The explorers said the ruins were covered by millions of small white flowers unknown in Mexico.

TAX ON UNMARRIED GERMANAdditional 10 Per Cent Levy Suggested by Cabinet to the Reichstag.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, June 6.—Germany's bachelors and bachelor girls will have to shoulder an additional burden of taxation as their share of efforts to meet Germany's heavy obligations if a proposal of the Cabinet is approved by the Reichstag.The Cabinet has agreed on an additional 10 per cent tax on incomes of unmarried men and women, which means more than double the present rate. The increase, while startling, compared to the income tax of Americans without wives or children, is not likely to exceed the high level already reached on British income taxes.The proposal is linked with the emergency tax on Government employes and salaried workers in private business. The tax increase is expected to develop heated debate in the Reichstag especially since it affects Government employes.

Hears of Dissatisfaction in France With Customs Officials' Activities.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, June 6.—A letter requesting that attention of the United States Government be called to anxiety of French industry at proposed increases in American tariffs has been sent to the French Minister of Commerce, M. Flaudin, by the French Federation of Industries and the National Association for Economic Expansion.The letter characterizes the proposed new duties as a prohibitive barrier to most of the principal French industries and predicts a tariff war "dangerous alike to world prosperity and peace."The letter further refers to statements of American economists that high tariffs will increase prices in the United States with resultant dangers to the country's prosperity.It is not for us to re-echo these dangers but we do intend to call the attention of the American Government and Congress to the repercussions which the American economic policy will have upon American commercial relations with the rest of the world."Further down the letter says:
"If America persists in the contradictory attitude of closing its doors to foreign goods and at the same time developing its exportation, how can America be surprised if France, with other nations, decides to take necessary protective measures?"The two organizations signing the letter represent virtually all French industry.Other Conditions Besides Tariff Af-that British rule in India was at an end or nearing its end.

In some sections this idea was said to have reached a point that British money was refused on the ground it was no longer legal tender and that King George was spoken of as having "gone," much as had Amanullah, former King of Afghanistan.

The tribesmen also have been inflamed by native accounts of the riots at Peshawar, in which they were told the British drove armored cars over people in the streets. Despite official denial, the stories are circulated by Indians that the armored cars crushed several persons without provocation and that it was not until after this that the crowd stoned police. All-India National Congress officials declare 80 to 30 bodies were picked up in the riot-streets.

Disorders May Halt Building of $15,000,000 Irrigation Dam.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 6.—A Bombay dispatch today to the London Daily Mail cited a statement of the Minister of Agriculture in the Bombay Government that the Nationalist civil disobedience movement was likely to endanger success of the Government's scheme to irrigate Sind Province. The biggest dam in the world is now in process of construction there. The vast works, it is estimated, will cost $75,000,000.

The present agitation was said to have shaken the confidence of investors, while there has been a decrease of revenue due to picketing of the liquor shops, and threats of refusal to pay the land taxes seem likely to curtail the amount of money available for the scheme.

INDICTED FOR MANSLAUGHTER IN KILLING AT DRUG STORE

Harry Goldman, Clerk, Accused of Shooting Thomas Hawkins in Quarrel Over Roman Candle.

Harry Goldman, clerk in a drug store at 1001 O'Fallon street, was indicted for manslaughter yesterday as a result of the death of Thomas Hawkins, 28 years old, of 1312 North Eighth street, who was shot last July 4 while being ejected from the drug store. Hawkins died at City Hospital last week from the effects of his wound.

Hawkins and Goldman quarreled about a Roman candle which had been sold to Hawkins' wife and had failed to function properly. Police quoted Goldman as saying he obtained a revolver to frighten Hawkins into leaving the store and that the weapon was discharged accidentally. Goldman lives at 3218 Easton avenue.

JUDGE GREEN'S DRY RECORD CONSISTENT

He Did Not Hold That Whisky Trading Was Not Violation of Dry Law.

Judge Will H. D. Green of West Plains, presiding over the Twentieth Judicial Circuit of Missouri, has received a number of letters from lawyers and Judges throughout the State, who said they were convinced that he had not, as reported recently, made a novel and incorrect decision in a liquor case at Van Buren.

Through misinformation, the Post-Dispatch erroneously stated in a news item May 1, and in an editorial May 2, that Judge Green had held that trading liquor for another commodity was not a violation of the State prohibition law. Later dispatches showed that Judge Green, in discharging a defendant on necessary legal grounds, did not hold that whisky trading was not a violation of law, or that trading and selling were separate and distinct offenses. The Supreme Court has held that the term "sell," as used in the prohibition law, is broad enough to include a trade.

Judge Green's entire career as a lawyer, prosecutor and Judge, has been marked by unwavering support of the prohibition movement and of the laws enacted as a result of that movement. He and his late father, Judge H. D. Green, with whom he was associated in law practice, refused to defend liquor law violators. As Prosecuting Attorney of Howell County for two terms, he brought about strict enforcement of the local option enactments against sale of liquor in that county, and succeeded in stopping the shipping of liquor into the county by rail. Through his efforts and those of the prosecutor of the adjoining Oregon County, the two counties, on the Arkansas border, were rendered bone-dry, before the coming of national prohibition.

For 40 years Judge Green has been superintendent of the Christian Church Sunday school in West Plains. After his election to the bench in 1918, he instituted the practice of opening court with prayer, offered by a minister of the gospel if one were present, otherwise by the Judge himself. When he went to Carthageville, in an adjoining circuit, to hold court, and offered prayer in the presence of a group of liquor defendants, they became panic-stricken and took changes of venue, leaving Judge Green no cases to try.

Judge Green recently received a plea of guilty from a farmer, to a charge of manufacturing whisky. He sentenced the man to two years imprisonment, and refused to grant a parole, which was sought on the ground that the man had a family. "The time for a man to consider his family," the Judge declared, "is before he sets out to violate the law." The Case County News, commenting on this decision, said that if other judges would refuse to be influenced by "sob stuff," better enforcement of the prohibition laws could be had.

The Post-Dispatch stated in an editorial May 7 that it had been misinformed as to Judge Green's decision, and apologized for its error. It stated that the Judge is a consistent prohibitionist, and that the Post-Dispatch had no wish to place him in a false position, therefore wished to retract its former statement.

CONSPIRACY CHARGES AGAINST TWO DISMISSED PROFESSORS

Three Students at Porto Rican School Also Named Following Strike of May 23.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, June 6.—Conspiracy charges have been filed against two dismissed professors and three students of the Polytechnic Institute at San Geronimo, alleging they incited the student strike May 23 which resulted in the closing of the institution.

The professors, Pedro P. Casablanca and Camello Mendez, were dismissed by President J. M. Harris following the student uprising. The students protested against discipline enforced by Dean Charles A. Leaker. Meanwhile, the university has been reopened.

PLANE HITS FENCE; TWO MEN KILLED

Overtaken in Take-Off Near Allendale, Mich., After Forced Landing.

By the Associated Press.
ALLENTOWN, Mich., June 6.—Two men were killed and a boy injured seriously in an airplane accident near here late yesterday. The dead are Gilbert McDiarmid, pilot-instructor for the Leonard Motorless Aircraft Co. of Grand Rapids, and Gilbert Reimink, salesman for the company.

The boy was taken to a hospital at Grand Haven, Mich. He was not identified definitely, but was thought to be Charles Giberson, 17 year old, of Kalamazoo. McDiarmid had made a forced landing in a field near this place because of an oil leak. In attempting to take off, the airplane struck a fence, it turned over, but did not burn.

Reimink was killed in a crash at Army Celebration. By the Associated Press.
QUITO, Ecuador, June 6.—Capt. Brazo was killed and Pilot Yeltes was seriously injured in an airplane crash here yesterday. They were participating in a display of Ecuadorian planes in honor of Lieut. Benjamin Mendez, who had just completed a flight from Bogota.

By the Associated Press.
RIVERSIDE, Cal., June 6.—Private Stephen Yaxa, a mechanic in the air corps at March Field here, was killed yesterday when an airplane piloted by Lieut. J. B. Glasscock went into a spin. Yaxa enlisted from Fort Defiance, Ariz. The officer said he jumped at an altitude of 1000 feet and landed with the aid of his parachute.

Two Killed in Plane Crash at Augusta, Me.
By the Associated Press.
AUGUSTA, Me., June 6.—Two persons were killed at the airport here last night as their plane went into a spin as they started to land. The victims were Francis A. Cole, 19 years old, Franklin, Mass., and Clyde G. Maxfield, 23, of West Barnstable, Mass.

Cole was said to have been at the controls. No gasoline was found in the tank or carburetor and investigators were convinced that lack of fuel caused the plane to go into a spin.

By the Associated Press.
WICHITA, Kan., June 6.—Grates Douthett, of Lawrence, Kan., was killed and Warren Farnin, of Ashland, Ky., was injured today when a two-seater biplane fell in the Hillcrest addition here.

MOTHER OF 5 GETS 8TH GRADE DIPLOMA IN NIGHT SCHOOL
Mrs. Lulu Ruh, 42, Says She Resumed Studies in Order to Help Her Children.

Resuming an education interrupted 30 years ago, Mrs. Lulu Ruh, 42 years old, wife of Leon Ruh, a superintendent for the Sinclair Refining Co., and the mother of five children, received an eighth-grade diploma last week at Beaumont High school next week. A thing which her previous education would not permit. Her record of attendance at the night school for the one year she has gone there is without tardy or absent marks, and she was one of three in the class to give an address at graduation exercises. She lives at 3429 North Ninth street.

ATLANTIC CITY GUESTS ROUTED
Fire Opposite Chelsea Hotel on the Boardwalk.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 6.—Guests at the Chelsea Hotel, fronting this resort's famous boardwalk, fled to the street scantily clad early today when fire destroyed a frame bathhouse opposite the hotel.

Sparks showered upon nearby buildings and ball boys from the Chelsea formed a bucket brigade to extinguish them as they fell on the hotel. Many guests gathered their belongings and left the building.

MAID ADMITS $1400 THEFT
Miss Ella Sells, 20-year-old maid in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis von Weise, 1128 Forty-third boulevard, arrested by University City police last night, admitted taking clothing valued at $1400 from the Von Weise home, police reported.

Miss Sells at first had declared that a Negro entered the home Wednesday night, taking 1200 from her and the clothing, which belonged to Mr. and Mrs. von Weise. The clothing, including a fur coat valued at $750, was recovered at a West End hotel.

EXPEND CARE IN PLANNING THE YOUNG CHILD'S DIET

It Is Good Policy Not to Fuss Over a Child While He Is Eating.

When planning the meals and the food for a 3 or 4-year-old child, keep in mind the following facts:

These foods which are most desirable and which should be used in each day's meals are milk, to the extent of one quart each day, one orange a day or its equivalent in tomato juice, one egg every other day, a serving cereal at least once a day, and two vegetables each day, such as spinach, carrots, peas, string beans, asparagus tips, strained stewed tomatoes, stewed celery, Swiss chard or beet tops. Simple desserts such as rice pudding, junket, gelatin jellies, boiled or baked custards, tapioca or bread pudding, stewed or baked fruits may be given once a day. These may be sweetened with a small amount of sugar or with honey.

Remember that children like and respond to a varied diet and that their foods should be well cooked, very simply seasoned with butter and a little salt and attractively served. Do not fuss over a child while he is eating, as this is apt to distract his attention or spoil him to the extent of causing difficulty in getting him to eat the things that he should.

DAILY ROUGHAGE IS AN ESSENTIAL IN ANY DIET

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Effective Relief for Constipation. Also Adds Iron to the Blood.

Do you suffer from constipation? Are you one of those who have tried one "vest pocket cure" after another and still have no sense of permanent relief? If so, this is big news to you! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is natural, effective relief for both temporary and recurring constipation. It is the original—and today is included in the diets of millions of people who formerly suffered from constipation.

When roughage is missing from food, constipation is the consequence. The soft foods we eat today seldom include enough roughage. The simple necessity, then, is to see to it that sufficient roughage is included in our food.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the bulk that your system requires.

In addition, it is rich in iron. Scientific research proves that nearly all this iron is absorbed by the system, building red blood and bringing the glorious color of health to the complexion.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is positively guaranteed. Your money will be returned if you are not satisfied. Be sure to include it in reducing diets as a preventive for both constipation and anemia.

There are so many ways you can eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN and enjoy it. In any form, it is appetizing. It is delicious with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over cereals and soups and notice the added flavor. Many people soak it in fruit juices. Excellent in cooked foods. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. It is served in hotels, restaurants and dining-cars. Ask for it! CHINESE DISHES GREATLY FAVORED FOR GUEST MEALS

Curiosity as to ingredients and Taste Intrigues the Company.

Egg foo yung is a typical Chinese dish. It is just the very thing for a company breakfast.

Egg Foo Yung. Ingredients needed to make this dish are one-half cup oil, one cup bamboo sprouts, three-fourths pound water chestnuts, cae cup cooked pork or chicken, one tablespoon salt, twelve eggs, one tablespoon Chinese sauce, one tablespoon corn starch, two teaspoons water and one-half cup water of soup stock.

Heat large frying pan; add salt and oil. Place in mixing bowl bamboo shoots and water chestnuts, which have been sliced thin, cut into threads two inches long and squeezed dry. Add diced meat and egg, beating all together lightly.

Drop from mixing spoon at equal distances in hot oil in frying pan. When brown on one side turn and brown on other side. Remove to hot platter and when all are done, pour off fat. Add one tablespoon Chinese sauce to corn starch, which has been softened in two teaspoons water. Mix with one-half cup water or soup stock (more if necessary), pour in frying pan and let cook two minutes.

Place a few pancakes at a time in pan with gravy and let cook gently to absorb a little of gravy. Serve immediately.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

Even Amateur Cooks Can Attain Success by Following These Directions.

Broiling chickens weigh from one and one-half to two and one-half pounds, and the butcher will split them for you if you ask him. Wipe and singe well, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and place in a greased broiler.

Place over a clear fire, and watch and turn carefully, so that all parts are equally exposed to the heat. The cut side must be near the fire longer than the skin side, as the latter naturally browns more quickly. Twenty minutes should be long enough for a tender bird.

Have the platter hot, remove the chicken to it, spread with soft butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Lamb Delicous.

Have ready three cupfuls of minced cooked lamb. Place one-fourth cupful of butter (or substitute, as bacon fat or drippings) in a saucepan, fry in the fat two or three slices of onion and a cupful or more of chopped mushrooms. Cook until brown.

Molten about three cupfuls of bread crumbs with a cupful of heated milk and add to this mixture a teaspoonful of minced parsley and a bit of red pepper. Mix and add to the meat, also add the onion and mushroom mixture and work into a loaf. More salt may be added to taste.

Place in individual molds and cook in a hot oven for about 15 minutes.

This recipe will serve about 10 persons. Half quantities may be made, or even less, entirely successfully.

Sauce of some sort is desirable, as the loaf may seem a bit dry. Tomato sauce, for instance, is delightful with this dish.

Stuffed Tomatoes.

Scoop out the centers of large, firm, ripe tomatoes. Sprinkle the tomato cups lightly on the inside with salt and dot with butter. Break egg into each tomato, sprinkle with salt, pepper and fine dry bread crumbs. Dot with butter. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) until the tomato skins are slightly wrinkled.

Pineapple Salad.

Heat the juice from a can of pineapple with enough orange juice to make a pint, add one-quarter cup sugar and the juice of a lemon. Soak one and one-half tablespoons gelatin in one-fourth cup cold water for five minutes, then dissolve in the hot juices and strain. Cut the pineapple into small pieces and cover with the aspic. Chill. Serve in cubes on lettuce with mayonnaise blended with whipped cream. Sprinkle chopped nuts over the top.

Cheese Toast.

Put two tablespoons of butter in the double boiler or chafing dish and when melted add two tablespoons of flour and blend well. Pour in gradually three-quarters of a cup of thin cream and stir until the mixture thickens. Add three-quarters of a cup of stewed strained tomatoes, blended with one-third of a teaspoon of baking soda. Set over hot water and add two cups of finely cut cheese, two beaten eggs, a tablespoon of Worcestershire sauce, a quarter of a teaspoon of mustard and salt and paprika to taste.

Stir constantly until the whole is a light creamy mass and serve on hot toast slices. Lay over each portion two slices of crisp broiled bacon.

THIS UP-SIDE-DOWN CAKE MADE OF GINGERBREAD

Pineapple, Raisins and Nut Meats Add to Its Other Toothsome Attractions.

The demand for up-side-down cake has brought forth this new recipe for gingerbread up-side-down cake. Melt one and a half tablespoons butter in cast iron or aluminum skillet. Add one-half cup molasses and heat to boiling point. Remove from fire. Strain juice from can of sliced pineapple and fit slices into bottom of skillet. Fill spaces between with broken nut meats and raisins.

For the gingerbread batter use three tablespoons shortening, one-half cup sugar, one egg, one-half cup molasses, one and three-fourths flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon soda, one teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon ginger, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon cloves, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg and one-half cup boiling water.

Cream shortening and sugar; add slightly beaten egg with molasses. Fold in sifted dry ingredients; then add boiling water, and mix well. Pour over slices of fruit.

Bake in a moderate oven 30 to 35 minutes. Turn out on serving plate, fruit side up.

FOOD VALUE OF WATERMELON HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED

According to Recent Tests Melons contain a Supply of Healthful Vitamins. Watermelon lovers will rejoice in the information that has just been put forth by the Department of Agriculture on the result of experiments that have been carried out to determine the vitamin content of this popular fruit.

These show that the variety tested, which we are told is the one that makes up about 90 per cent of the commercial shipment, contains good supplies of vitamin A, which is so needed for growth and physical well being. It also contains some vitamin C, which is needed in the development of good teeth, while B and G are also present in good amounts.

There is, therefore, a great deal of justification for the increased popularity and use of watermelons.

Moscow Sandwiches.

Mix one and three-fourths cup cottage cheese with six tablespoons of Russian dressing. Spread filling between thin slices of buttered bread. The mixture may also be used in making open faced sandwiches.

Now—
the coffee you'd expect DEL MONTE to bring to your table

Today we offer you a new member of the famous DEL MONTE family—DEL MONTE Coffee. Isn't it natural, then, to look for a new achievement in coffee richness and coffee flavor?

Certainly you should! And we think DEL MONTE Coffee will live up to your most critical expectations.

In our seventy years of food-making, we have seen many coffees come and go. We have seen tastes change. We know that tastes today are the most critical and exacting in history.

So, before adding coffee to the DEL MONTE line, we tasted, tested and compared all the leading brands on the market. We became convinced that this modern age deserved a truer, finer coffee flavor. Better still, we felt sure we could produce just such a coffee, and we determined to do it.

A long task—and an expensive one. But out of it all has come a coffee superior in aroma and flavor, we believe, to anything ever before offered to American coffee lovers.

Treat yourself to a steaming cup of DEL MONTE Coffee. You will enjoy all the satisfaction of a coffee fulfilling the promise that goes with the familiar green label with its red DEL MONTE shield. CALIFORNIA PACKING CORPORATION

COLD FRUIT DRINKS FOR JUNE PARTIES

Suitable for Class Day Festivities and Engagement Luncheons.

Cooling fruit drinks attractively served are always popular and the person who knows how to make a number of them is usually sought after!

Sugar Syrup.

Most, in fact, all, fruit drinks are smoother in flavor, if they are sweetened with a sugar syrup instead of plain sugar. This is simply made by mixing together one pound of granulated sugar, two cups cold water and the unbeaten white of one egg. Heat slowly to the boiling point and boil slowly for five minutes. Strain through a fine strainer, pour into a jar, cool, cover and keep in a cold place. This makes about three cups of syrup and will keep for a week or so in the ice box. Use one or more tablespoons for each glass of fruit beverage.

Refreshing Fruitades.

There are few drinks more refreshing than fresh fruit lemonade but here is a way to get really good lemonade. Yet it is very simple to make. Allow one-half a lemon for each glass of lemonade, and sweeten the drink with sugar syrup. These are the important points.

Each of the following recipes will serve eight. Use one-half of the recipe for smaller amounts.

Lemonade.

Squeeze four lemons and add to the juice one-half cup sugar syrup. Cut thin strips of the lemon peel, allowing one for each glass. Put the lemon juice and syrup in a pitcher with seven cups cold water and cup crushed ice. Put a strip of lemon peel in each glass and add one whole strawberry and half a slice of orange. Pour the chilled lemonade over the fruit for serving.

Pineappleade.

This is another especially refreshing drink. Mix two cups canned pineapple juice or the juice pressed from the crushed, canned pineapple with one-half cup orange juice, one-third cup lemon juice, one cup crushed ice and two-thirds cup sugar syrup. Add six cups water and serve garnished with a slice of orange and mint leaf.

Golden Punch.

This is delicious when fresh apricots and plums are available. Cut 12 fresh apricots and eight ripe large yellow plums in halves, add one and one-half cups water and simmer for 10 minutes. Strain through a fine strainer, pressing out all the juice. Sweeten to taste with sugar syrup. Fill tall glasses one-third full of crushed ice, then add two or three tablespoons of the fruit juice and fill the glasses with plain soda or pale ginger ale.

Raspberry Frost.

Sprinkle two cups fresh raspberries with one-half cup sugar and crush them with a silver fork. Let stand one-half hour to draw out the juice, then strain through a fine strainer. Add the juice of one lemon and two small oranges and one-half cup sugar syrup. When fresh berries are not available use two cups of the canned, amittling the sugar and the syrup entirely, or using less as required. Add two cups cold water to the strained fruit juice mixture and pour into tall glasses half full of crushed ice. Garnish each glass with a sprig of fresh mint and serve with straws.

Cottage Cheese Pie.

Line two deep pie plates with pie crust and add the following: six well-beaten eggs, one and three-quarters cups cottage cheese, two cups of shredded coconut, nine tablespoons of sugar, two teaspoons of nutmeg, four cups of milk or enough to fill two pie plates. Bake as you would custard pie, being careful to reduce the heat to prevent its becoming watery.

CLEANS AUTO RADIATORS

DRAIN your radiator and fill with a solution of Lewis' Lye and water... use 1/2 can to every 500 gallons of water... Run the engine, then drain and flush and the radiator will be clean. No need to get into the water on the job.

James D. Swan, Mgr. of Specialties The Pennsylvania Salt Mfg. Co. 30 No. La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

LEWIS' LYE

TRY SPINACH CUSTARD

This Dish Is a Relief From Ordinary Boiled Spinach.

As few home cooks know how to prepare spinach custard, here are directions for making it. Take two pounds spinach, two tablespoons butter, three tablespoons of flour, one and one-third teaspoons salt, one-half cup spinach water, one cup milk and one egg. Wash clean and drain spinach. Place in kettle, put on cover and cook 10 minutes with cover on; then remove cover and cook 10 minutes longer. Drain, reserving liquor.

Chop spinach fine. Cream butter and flour; add spinach liquor and milk and cook in double boiler till creamy. Slightly beat egg; add some of cooked mixture, then stir into remaining mixture in top of double boiler.

Remove from fire and stir in chopped spinach. Turn into casserole and cover with half cup of fresh bread crumbs. Brown in a hot oven for 15 minutes.

Spanish Dressing.

Rub a small bowl with a cut clove of garlic, then pour in one-half cup salad oil, one tablespoon lemon juice, three tablespoons Tarragon vinegar, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon white pepper, one tablespoon minced chives and two tablespoons chili sauce. Beat until smooth and creamy and pour over hearts of lettuce.

A WOMAN SPOKE! and a phrase went round the world

ONE of the most famous expressions in advertising is that phrase about the "Contented Cows." A woman originated it many years ago. It was at a convention. Some speaker was portraying the ideal conditions which surrounded Carnation Cows and the effect of these conditions upon milk production. "Why, that's milk from Contented Cows!" exclaimed the listener. And from that voluntary, spontaneous tribute from a bright-eyed young woman came the slogan, "from Contented Cows," which has ever since identified Carnation Milk.

Some people profess to be amused that contented cows are better animals than discontented ones. But when it comes to milk production, the facts show that none of this care, none of this consideration for a cow's comfort, is wasted. The better the conditions, the more milk—and the richer, creamier milk.

Insuring Pure, Rich Milk

So every herd that supplies milk to fill Carnation cans is constantly watched by Carnation field men, to see that the cows are really contented. Only milk from such selected herds can pass Carnation's rigid tests for freshness, purity and cleanliness. I'm sure it helps you to remember, when you see that phrase, just what Carnation Milk is—pure, wholesome, whole milk, with nothing added and nothing taken out except about half the water, which is removed by evaporation. This milk, doubly rich in cream, is "homogenized" to break up the cream globules into minute particles so that they won't rise to the top of the milk but will stay distributed all through the milk. Then the milk is sterilized so that it will keep safely in its conveniently packaged form.

Smoothness an Aid in Cooking

Carnation, because of its special uniformity and dependably high quality, makes for certainty in cooking results; because of its finer cream globules makes for smoother, finer textures in all foods where texture counts; because of its double richness, supplies creaminess to cookery with less use of butter and cream; and because of its convenient form can be kept on hand in quantity, without spoiling.

I wish you would try some of the Carnation recipes in the Carnation Cook Book—which is free. The new Baby Feeding Book is also yours for the asking. Just write the Carnation Company, 100 Carnation Building, Oconomowoc, Wisconsin.

FURNISHINGS FOR A BRIDE'S KITCHEN

How to Select and Purchase This Very Necessary Cooking Equipment.

In spite of the cynical remarks sometimes heard about the disintegration of the American home, and the disappearance of the American kitchen as a part of the home, there is a large annual crop of June brides, nine-tenths of whom have a lively interest in the furnishings and equipment of their kitchen, albeit this happens to be only a kitchenette or a cabinet electrically equipped for light housekeeping.

As in the furnishing of any other part of the house, there are certain essentials—generally few in number—and as large an amount of accessories as one cares, or is able, to buy and bother with. A stove, a sink, an ice box, a few cooking utensils—these, we might call the essentials.

Types of Cooking Utensils. There are many questions always asked as to the best kind of material to choose for cooking utensils—glassware, enamel, aluminum, ironware, etc. Each has its advantages and each will give satisfaction if used intelligently.

The following list of kitchen furnishings will supply all the necessary articles for the kitchen. The cost depends on the kind of material chosen, but in any case is not excessive.

Agate, Aluminum or Tin. One quart size double boiler, one pint sauce pan, two quart sauce pans with cover, one 4-quart pan with cover, one basting spoon, one colander, one soup ladle, one skimmer, one 2 or 3-quart tea kettle, one medium sized covered roasting pan, aluminum griddle, set of measuring spoons, two half-pint measuring cups, one small frying pan.

Glass, Tin or Aluminum. Two oblong bread pans, three pint casserole, six custard cups, six pint glass jars for cereals and dry groceries, lemon squeezer, one pie plate, 3-quart baking dish, quart baking dish, cookie sheet, two medium sized layer cake pans, one set muffin tins, one small square cake pan, biscuit cutter, wire cake cooler, flour dredger, quart pudding mold, pint pudding mold, nutmeg grater, two strainers, coarse and fine, bread and cake box, coffee canister, tea canister, flour canister, potato masher, rolling pin, salt and pepper shakers, percolator, teapot, garbage pail, knife sharpener, dish pan, flour sifter, bread box, salt box.

Cutlery. Bottle opener, bread knife, can opener, medium sized carving set, two case knives, apple corer, grapefruit knife, chopping knife and small bowl, corkscrew, one large and one small egg beater, griddle cake turner, ice pick, palette knife or spatula, long handled fork, meat grinder, two paring knives, kitchen scissors, two small forks, grater, two wooden spoons.

INDIVIDUAL MUSHROOM PIES

These Pastries Are Delicate and Have Appetite Appeal.

Mushroom pies make a very acceptable main dish. To make them cook one and one-half cups rice. To the cooked rice add three and one-half cups mushrooms, diced, two tablespoons lemon juice, one teaspoon salt and one-half cup meat stock and mix well together.

Line small pie pans with rich crust and fill with rice and mushroom mixture. Bake in a moderate oven 30 minutes. Garnish with sprigs of parsley.

N. B.—One cup diced cooked meat may be added, lamb or beef preferred.

FROZEN PEAR SALAD

Last Summer Menus Popularized This Icy Cold Delicacy.

For frozen pear and cheese salad, mash one three-ounce package of cream cheese. Add the juice from one can of pear halves and three tablespoons of well-seasoned French dressing. Beat with an egg beater until smooth.

Then pour over pears, which have been sliced thin and arranged in the bottom of one of the ice trays of a refrigerating unit.

Chill until firm enough to cut into squares.

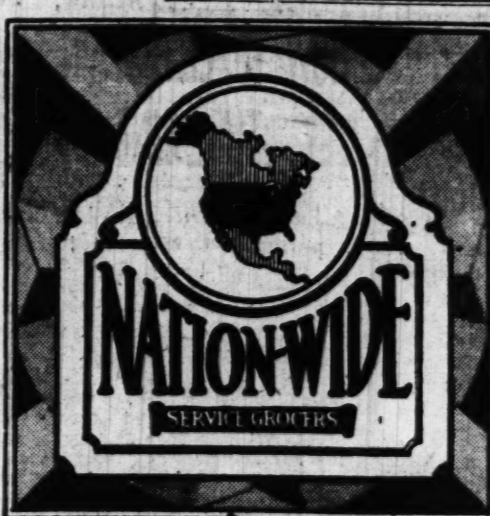

Then arrange on crisp salad greens and serve with mayonnaise or French dressing.

New Softness
New Absorbency
in bathroom paper

By Making Bathroom Paper—Like Soft Rayon—From Pure Cellulose

THESE qualities come from the new way "Northern Tissue" is made—solely from pure, soft cellulose. The same basic material used to make exquisite, silky rayon!

And because only cellulose is used, "Northern Tissue" is pure white in color—not even tinged with yellow.

Medical men warn you of the dangers concealed in harsh, yellow, ground-wood "toilet papers." "Unsanitary," they say,

"and filled with tiny wood splinters that cause serious disorders."

Naturally, then, this soft, white, absorbent "Northern Tissue" is meeting with medical approval everywhere.

Every sheet of "Northern Tissue" is sterilized 20 times in the making—coming to you as free from bacteria as sterile hospital cotton. The price is only 10c a roll, at any Department, grocery or drug store.

"NORTHERN TISSUE" offers new standards of health protection

- 1—White—free from raw wood splinters found in cheap yellow ground-wood papers.
- 2—Soft, as rayon is soft. Because made from rayon's base.
- 3—Health Commissioners in 254 cities and 45 states say: "Use 'Northern Tissue,' especially where children must be protected."
- 4—20 times sterilized, every sheet in every roll.

HOW TO ENTERTAIN THE JUNE BRIDE

A Luncheon Offers Hostess Opportunity to Display Her Culinary Skill.

As June is the month of brides and the time for the many festivities that attend them, hostesses plan to entertain at least one bride during the month, and as wedding breakfasts have been discussed and the furnishings of the bride's kitchen, it seems not unfitting to devote this space to the planning of a dainty luncheon for the hostess who wishes to entertain the brand new bride or the bride-to-be.

Luncheons which are popular forms of entertaining, provide a good opportunity for the display of taste and skill in planning attractive menus, color schemes and table decorations. In many instances they are a good prelude to a "shower" of one sort or another. The menu has been made especially for the hostess who has most of the preparation to do herself—practical in that the meal may be prepared ahead of time and the dishes are simple enough to serve without aid of a maid, if necessary.

Luncheon Menu.
Cantaloupe cocktail
Crab and shrimp patties with fresh peas
Clover rolls
Olives and salted nuts
Frozen strawberry pudding

Tiny food cakes
Yellow daisies with blue delphinium and maiden hair fern make a very effective centerpiece when used with one of the new pale yellow damask cloths; or sweetheart roses and mignonette with a shell pink or pale green cloth. Pink and white roses or pastel colored sweet peas may also be used most effectively with these colored cloths. The foods suggested will fit into any of the color schemes.

Cantaloupe Cocktail:
For this select the small melons with pinky pulp. For eight servings three of these small melons will be needed. See that they are ripe and well chilled. Cut in half, remove the seeds and then cut the pulp into little balls with a vegetable cutter or a small spoon. Mix the melon balls with three-fourths cup orange juice, two teaspoons powdered sugar and three tablespoons finely chopped fresh mint. Chill the mixture thoroughly and serve in cocktail or sherbet glasses, garnishing each with two whole mint leaves, using either the fresh or crystallized ones.

Crab and Shrimp Patties.
For eight servings use one and one-half cups each flaked crab meat and shrimp—fresh cooked or canned. Melt one-fourth cup butter, add one-fourth cup flour and stir until well blended. Then add gradually two cups milk, stirring constantly.

When thickened and smooth, stir in the juice of half a lemon, one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, one teaspoon salt, the crab flakes and shrimp. Reheat with a little stirring as possible in order to avoid breaking the fish flakes too much. Just before serving add two tablespoons sharp flavoring. Serve in hot patty shells on hot plates with a garnish of fresh peas.

Frozen Pudding.
Pick over, wash and hull one quart ripe berries. Mash well and add three-fourths cup powdered sugar and one tablespoon lemon juice. Cover and let stand for an hour, then squeeze out the juice through cheesecloth. Pour it into a large mold or into eight individual ones.

Next whip one pint of cream until stiff, fold in one-half cup powdered sugar, a teaspoon vanilla extract and one-half cup crushed stale macarons. Pour this in on top of the strawberry juice in the molds.

Cover and freeze in equal parts crushed ice and ice cream salt for 2 hours, or freeze in an electric refrigerator for four to five hours. Turn out for serving. The strawberry juice makes an ice with the center a delicately flavored mousse.

Broiled Chicken.
Buy young broilers, allowing half for each portion. Have them split and cleaned. Wash in cold water, dry with a soft cloth and sprinkle lightly on both sides with salt, pepper and flour.

Heat the broiling oven for five minutes, grease the broiler and place the chicken, skin side down on the broiler. Cook for 10 minutes about four inches below the flame, basting twice with a little melted butter. Turn, skin side up, and cook 10 minutes longer, basting once.

Serve on hot plates with new potato balls rolled in parsley and sprinkled with a little lemon juice.

ELEGANT CAKES FOR THE WEDDING FEAST

Custom Suggests Wedding Cakes for Both the Bride and the Bridegroom.

June is the month for weddings, and weddings mean wedding cake. While the bride's cake is always featured at a wedding feast, it is customary to have the groom's cake at the other end of the table from the bride's cake.

The bride cuts the first piece of her cake. The bride's cake is always a rich white cake, baked either in a loaf or else an elaborate built-up confection of several cakes placed one on top of the other. Modern custom also sanctions a heart-shaped wedding cake. These cakes must be heavily iced and decorated.

On the other hand, the groom's cake must be of the fruit cake type, uniced; custom permits decoration of candied flowers with leaves of angelica, candied cherries or other glace fruits.

Any home cook who can bake a good cake can make a wedding cake, providing she expends sufficient time and attention on the effort.

This is a fine recipe for a bride's cake:

Ingredients needed are: Whites of 24 eggs, one and one-half pounds of unsalted, uncolored butter, one and one-half pounds powdered sugar, one teaspoon baking powder, one and one-half pounds pastry flour, sifted four times, one and one-half teaspoons bitter almond extract and one-half teaspoon cream of tartar.

Stir butter into a cream and slowly add the sugar and beat until light then add the flour slowly and fold in the whites of the eggs beaten to a smooth stiffness. Add the flavoring.

The ring, thimble, button, heart and horseshoe may be added to the batter to be distributed to the bridesmaids.

Bake the cake in a large pan with the tube in the center. Rub the inside of the pan with unsalted butter and sift fine macaroon crumbs over the surface.

Bake slowly in a moderate oven in order that its pure whiteness will not be spoiled. Two and one-half hours will probably be needed to bake the cake.

Next day frost the cake with meringue icing made by boiling two cups sugar and one-half cup water until it will crack when dropped in cold water. Take syrup off fire and thread it into the well beaten whites of two eggs. Spread icing smoothly over cake and let it set for several hours.

When the icing is set remove cake to a cardboard platter which has been cut to fit the cake and covered with plain white glazed paper. Place a dainty lace paper dolly over the board and put the cake on top of the dolly.

The cake is now ready for the royal frosting which is made by adding one pound of confectioners sugar, a little at a time, to three egg whites beaten stiff. Add a pinch of cream of tartar to the mixture, and flavor with a few drops of bitter almond extract.

With a palette knife spread the icing smoothly in a thin layer all over the top and sides of the cake. The cake is now ready for its decorations. These may consist of candy, flowers, motifs or any of the small figures or decorations suitable for the purpose which may be purchased in shops where articles of the kind are sold.

The day of the wedding, the bride cuts the cake with a silver knife tied with a bow of broad white ribbon.

Bridegroom's Cake.

The bridegroom's cake is now cut at the wedding feast. Instead it is sealed up tight in a tin box and put carefully away to be cut at the fifth wedding anniversary feast.

To make this cake use one pound brown sugar, one and one-fourth pounds flour, one pound butter, 18 eggs, one lemon, juice and grated rind, one orange, ground, skin and all, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon mace, one teaspoon ground nutmeg, one cup molasses, one cup grape juice, two pounds figs, two pounds candied cherries, two pounds candied citron, one pound candied orange peel, two pounds candied pineapple, six pounds seeded raisins and three pounds currants.

Cut the fruit into thin pieces and carefully wash and dry the raisins and currants. Soak the fruit in the grape juice overnight. Cream the butter and sugar and add the spices; then the liquids and flour alternately; then the eggs beaten light. Lastly, the fruit a little at a time, gently incorporated into the batter.

Scorch the flour in the oven previous to using it.

Bake the cake in a round cake pan with a tube in the center. Grease the sides and bottom of pan with unsalted butter. Place cake pan in a large baking pan which has enough water in it so that it will not evaporate in an hour.

Set the pan in a moderate oven and cook the cake slowly. A large cake will take about three hours to bake.

After removal from the oven, allow cake to cool for 24 hours. Candied fruit may be used to decorate the groom's cake, which should be mounted on a cardboard platter decorated with a lace paper dolly.

PROPER WAY TO BREW TEA

This Beverage Should Draw Three to Five Minutes.

Many housewives give little attention to brewing the family pot of tea.

There is a right and a wrong way of making this beverage and these directions describe the right way.

Allow a scant teaspoon of tea for each cup. Put tea in a heated, earthen pot, pour freshly bubbling, boiling water over the leaves, cover, allow to steep from three to five minutes; stir from the bottom, allow leaves to settle and then pour.

In this way, one gets a refreshing and beneficial drink. Three to five minutes steeping extracts the easily dissolved essential oil and tannin, or spirit of the tea. The more slowly soluble, bitter and astringent constituent, tannin, is developed only by longer steeping.

Hostess Lemon Loaf

with the flavor of real lemons!

By ALICE ADAMS PROCTOR

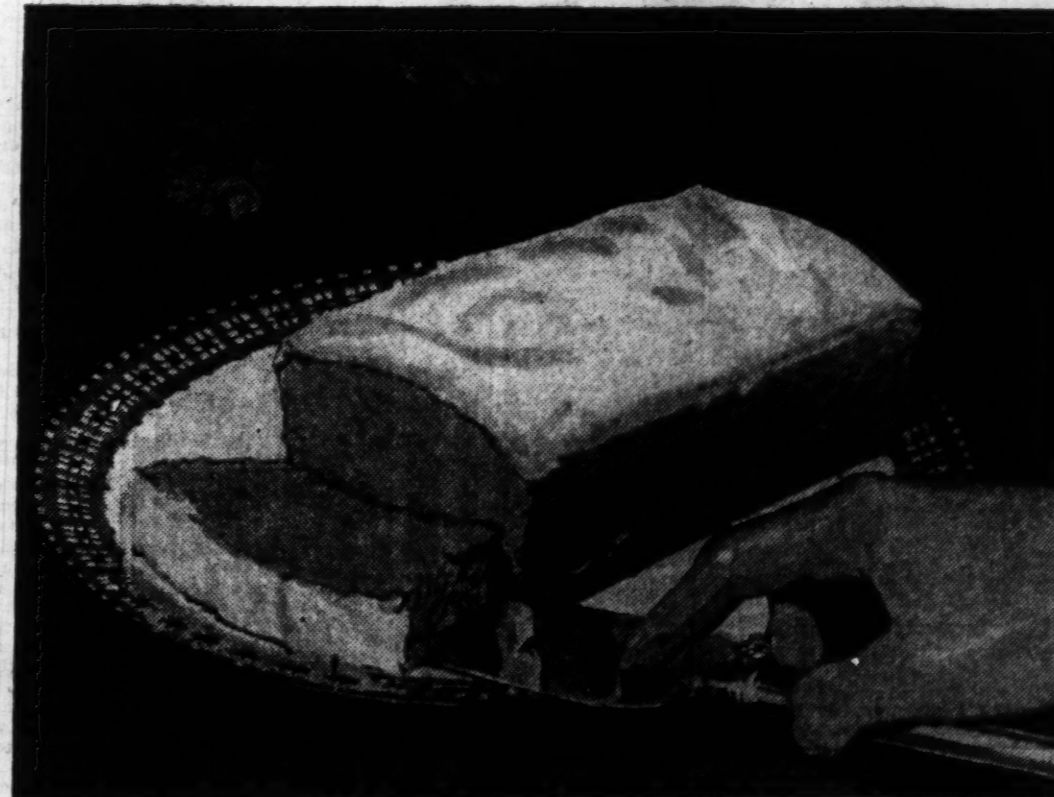

REFRESHING as a lemon ice, this soft yellow loaf cake has the same fresh flavor of real lemon juice.

It's just the cake to serve with frosty mint-sprigged glasses of fruit punch on a hot afternoon. Or as a dessert, cooling and light—yet satisfying and sweet.

We make a fluffy loaf of yellow sponge cake, rich with eggs, and ice it with lemon butter cream. See how evenly it slices! Home-made sponge cake is very seldom so fine-textured.

In hundreds of delightful letters women have told me that this cake actually saves them money as well as time and worry in baking. For the ingredients alone would cost more at retail than the price of the cake. Specially milled cake flour, eggs inspected with the greatest care, butter for frosting that tests "90 score"—better than average good creamery butter!

Every Hostess Cake is made by the old rule: "If you want good cake, put good things in it." Try the Devil's Food Loaf made with rich butter batter or the delicious layer cakes. Hostess Cup Cakes with vanilla or chocolate frosting are meltingly good . . . and they're 2 for a nickel!

You can be sure that Hostess Cakes are fresh, for every one is sold on a money-back guarantee. Be sure to tell the grocer you want Hostess Cake, for that name is a positive assurance of delicate freshness and purity.

STRAWBERRIES MAKE
DAINTY PRESERVES

These Berries Are at Their Peak in This Section of the Country.

Strawberries make the most delicious preserves and conserves. Housewives who put up fruit for next winter's use should not neglect preserving these berries as preserves, jams and marmalades are becoming more popular as time passes, with every probability that these condiments will return to the position of prominence they occupied on the home table in colonial and mid-Victorian periods.

In these days, all varieties of homemade jams, jellies and preserves were used on the table in their natural state as a spread for bread, pancakes and waffles.

Culinary experts of today have found many other uses for these old-time sweets. They are used in combination dishes such as cakes, puddings, pies, tarts and sandwiches. They are also accented as accompaniments for cereals and meats.

On account of the uncertainty of the strawberry season, housewives who plan to put up these berries will do well to purchase their supply before the supply becomes scarce.

Strawberry preserves may be made successfully by following either of these two recipes.

Old-Fashioned Method.
Dissolve four cups of sugar in a scant pint of strained strawberry juice (use the small inferior berries for this purpose), let boil for five minutes and skim well.

Add a generous quart of the largest and most perfect berries you can get and simmer very gently until tender, but not mushy.

Skim out the berries carefully and pack in hot sterilized jars standing in a pan of boiling water. Drain the syrup from the fruit in the jars back into the preserving kettle and cook down until quite thick.

Pour over the fruit, filling the jars to overflowing, and seal airtight with new rubbers and hot covers.

Sunshine Method.
Put into a preserving kettle in layers as many pounds of sugar as of hulled washed berries. Set aside for four or five hours and put over the fire to simmer for ten minutes after boiling begins.

Then turn the berries into shallow agate pans or china plates, cover with panes of window glass and set in the direct heat of the sun. Let stand for three days, stirring three times daily.

Move the pans of fruit into the house over night.

On the fourth day put the preserves in glass jars or containers and paraffin the top as is done in the case of jelly. Allow the jars to remain in the sunshine for several additional days.

While a more intricate method of preserving small fruits and berries, the sunshine method results in a condiment which is satisfactory in the extreme.

AN EASY CAKE TO MAKE
May Be Mixed Up and Baked at a Moment's Notice.

An easy cake to make is this one-egg cake. Ingredients needed are one egg, one cup sugar, one and three-fourths cups of all-purpose flour, two teaspoons baking powder, three tablespoons shortening, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon nutmeg and two-thirds cup milk or water.

Sift together all dry ingredients. Add unbeaten egg with melted shortening and milk or water, and stir to a smooth dough.

Pour into two small layer pans; sprinkle one tablespoon granulated sugar over each layer, and bake in a moderately hot oven 10 minutes. When cool put together with lemon filling.

If desired, this cake may be baked in a loaf in a moderate oven 15 minutes.

FASHIONABLE FOOD COLORS
Nature Beautifully Tints the Fresh Young Vegetables.

The spring salad colors include varied shades of green, from light to dark, and are mingled with the bright red of the tomato, beet and strawberry, delicate pink of the rhubarb and the golden colors of the carrot, orange and peach, shading into the pale yellows of the grapefruit, pear and pineapple.

One's imagination can easily be developed when working with salads so as to create a beautiful picture.

But do not forget that while color combination is important flavor combination is most important.

The salad dressing too must be carefully selected so as to develop the flavor of the salad rather than to compete with it.

SUNBONNET GIRL SALAD

Another One of Those Attractive Symbolic Food Creations.

Sunbonnet girl salad is seasonal and needless to say very popular as the summer girl always is.

Place a pear on a cup shaped lettuce leaf with the larger end fitted into the cup part so that it will look like a bonnet. In other words the top part of the lettuce should roll over the top of the pear to look like a sun shade.

Prepare face as follows:

Eyes—Olives.

Mouth—Pimiento.

Nostrils—Paprika (put on with a toothpick).

Cheek and chin—Paprika.

Hair—Mayonnaise sprinkled with cinnamon.

Bonnet bow—Strips of pimiento.

RICHER and CREAMIER

WE never changed her old time recipe that made this mayonnaise so perfect

A special little corner in the pantry housed her choicest oil and eggs and vinegar and spices that were "the makings" of this wonderful mayonnaise—first made by a mother of long ago. And a very special recipe held the secret of success. Once she perfected it, never by a particle was anything added or subtracted! Why trifle with perfection?
So, when the news of her DIFFERENT mayonnaise spread to town, village and city, and the homey specialty became a popular brand, we were wise . . . we never changed her old time recipe one iota! This accounts for the delicious difference of Ivanhoe. Pure, wholesome, blended to a family's taste—it now satisfies a nation's! Buy richer, creamier Ivanhoe at almost any grocery in quarts, pints, half-pints, or in 3½ oz. jars. You can't mistake its flavor once you've tried it. Yet it costs no more than ordinary mayonnaise.

Planning company meals is no hardship this time of year, for the markets are full of tempting foods, the florist shops are gay with spring blossoms and the department stores bright with their arrays of new and alluring supplies of china, linen and glassware.

Not that it is necessary to raid the department store in order to give a company dinner, but it is nice to know that if the household stock needs replenishing that attractive things may be had, and once bought there is no excuse for a company dinner to them off.

Effective Decorations.
A very beautiful table made use of the new vogue for colored linen and spread itself with a beautiful soft peach-colored linen cloth. The china was pink Spode, the glassware the most delicate blue and the centerpiece a silver bowl of spring flowers in pastel colors. Many similarly beautiful effects can be obtained with a little thought.

Tempting Foods.
This week's Sunday dinner has been planned as a special company meal and makes use of seasonal foods in attractive color scheme. The menu may just as readily be used for an evening dinner. It is not difficult to prepare nor does it require much last-minute attention, so that it is suitable for those who have to plan such entertaining without the services of a maid.

Jimmy and Stanhope Clash Again

Journey's End

The novel on which the world-famous war play was based.

—By—
R. C. SHERRIFF and VERNON BARTLETT

CHAPTER XXVII

"I don't ever tell you the story about the girl I met in Soho," began Hibbert, trying to be tactful and to bring back the cheery atmosphere which had so suddenly vanished.

"I don't know," said Stanhope. "I expect you did."

"I'll amuse you," Hibbert assured him, undismayed. "I'd been to a dance and was coming home quite late."

"Yes, and it's late, now," Stanhope interrupted. "You go on duty at 11. You'd better go and get some sleep."

"I'm all right. I'm as fresh as a daisy."

"You say so, but go to bed."

"What?" asked Hibbert, unable to believe that his cheery evening was thus abruptly coming to an end.

"I said, go to bed."

"I say, that's a nice way of ending a jolly evening!"

"I'm sorry. I'm tired."

"Well, you better go to bed," suggested Hibbert perkily.

Stanhope stared at him, and he sniggered.

"What was that you said?"

"I was only joking."

"I asked you what you said."

"I said, 'You better go to bed,'" Hibbert admitted, with a ghost of a snigger.

Stanhope glared, his face flushed with anger.

"Clear out of here," he ordered. Hibbert rose unsteadily. "What—what d'you mean?"

"Get out of here, for God's sake!" Hibbert blustered the other.

"Look here!"

"Get out of here, for God's sake!" Stanhope, with such intensity that Hibbert made no further reply, but sneaked away to his dugout.

"Little worm gets on my nerves," Stanhope declared, as much to the dugout as to Trotter.

"Pool little bloke. Never seen 'im so cheerful before."

"Doesn't he nearly drive you mad?"

"Well, I never did care for 'im, as you might say, but I reckon 'e only wanted to keep cheerful."

"Doesn't his repulsive little mind make you sick? I envy you, Trotter. Nothing upsets you, does it? You're always the same."

"Always the same, am I?" echoed Trotter, sitting into his empty tea mug. "Little you know!"

"You never get sick to death of everything, or so happy you want to sing."

"I don't know. I whistle sometimes."

"But you always feel the same?"

Trotter was not in a mood for confidences. "I feel all blown out now," he remarked. "I'll go and believe young Raleigh. Pity 'e didn't come down to supper."

He stood up, tried to button his tunic, but without success, and buckled his webbing belt over his paunch. He put on his helmet and respirator bag. Then he picked up a packet from the table.

"Here's Hibbert's post cards," he said. "Funny a bloke carrying pictures like this about." He put the cards carefully into his own tunic pocket, said "Cheerio!" to Stanhope, and went towards the dugout steps. "You realize that you're my second in command now, don't you?" Stanhope called after him.

"Well, you 'adn't said nothing about it, but—"

"Well, you are."

"Right, skipper. Thanks. I won't let you down." And Trotter went off quite jauntily to relieve Raleigh, leaving Stanhope staring with disgust at the dirty cups and plates on the table.

Presently he raised his head, and called to Mason to bring Mr. Raleigh's dinner. Mason brought in a steaming plate of food and went away with some of the dirty crockery, just as Raleigh came down the steps at the dugout, took off his helmet and hesitated.

"I thought I told you to come down to dinner at 5 o'clock!" said Stanhope.

"Oh, I'm sorry. I didn't think you—"

"Well? You didn't think I—er—what?"

"I didn't think you'd—you'd mind—if I didn't."

"I see. And why do you think I asked you if I didn't mind?"

"I'm sorry."

"Well," went on Stanhope, changing his tone a little, "we've kept your dinner. It's ready for you here."

"Oh, it's awfully good of you to have kept it for me, but I—I had something to eat up there."

Stanhope's voice became cold and hard again.

"You—you had something to eat up there? What do you mean exactly?"

"They brought round the tea while I was on duty."

"Are you telling me that you've been feeding with the men?"

"They asked me to share."

"Now, look here. I know you're new to all this, but I thought you'd have the sense to leave the men alone feeding with the men. D'you think they want an officer prowling round, eating their rations and sneaking up to them?"

"Why did they ask me if they didn't mean it?"

"Don't you realize they were making a fool of you?"

"Why should they?" asked Raleigh.

"Do you know more about men than I do?"

"I'm sorry, then—if I was wrong."

"Sit down," said Stanhope.

"Yes, all right, thank you," Raleigh said. "I'll sit down."

"Sit down!" Then he went on more quietly. "I understand you prefer being up there with the men rather than down here with us."

"I don't see what you mean?"

"What did you tell Hibbert?"

"Hibbert? I didn't say—"

"Don't lie."

Raleigh's voice was nearly as angry as Stanhope's. "I'm not lying, he declared. 'Why should I lie?'"

"Then why didn't you come down?"

"I—I wasn't hungry. I had rather a headache. It's cooler up there."

"You insulted Trotter and Hibbert by not coming down. You realize that, I suppose?"

"I didn't mean to do anything like that."

"Well, you did. You know new, don't you?"

Raleigh made no reply. He was trying to understand why Stanhope's temper had risen to a trembling fury.

"I say—you know now, don't you?" repeated Stanhope in a voice which he could scarcely control. "My officers work together. I'll have no damned pigs."

"I'm sorry. I'll speak to Trotter and Hibbert. I didn't realize 'I' say," he broke off, for he was staring, fascinated and horrified, at Stanhope's hand which shook so violently that he could scarcely place his cigarette between his lips.

"What are you looking at?" asked Stanhope.

Raleigh lowered his head. "Nothing."

"Anything funny about me?"

"No." After a moment of silence he went on, in a halting voice. "I'm awfully sorry, Dennis. If—I annoyed you by coming to your company."

"What on earth are you talking about? What do you mean?"

"You recent my being here?"

"Recent your being here? I don't know what you mean. I resent you being a damned fool, that's all. Better eat your dinner before it's cold."

"Oh, for God's sake, sit down and eat it like a man!"

"I can't eat it, thanks."

"Are you going to eat your dinner?"

There was a harsh command in Stanhope's metallic voice, but it brought a cry from the boy who stood quivering before him with an arm stretched wildly towards the dark steps that led into the night. It was a sudden cry for mercy. "Good God! Don't you understand? How can I sit down and eat that—when—when Osborne's lying out there..."

Stanhope rose slowly, his eyes wide and staring. He was fighting for his breath, and his words came fiercely, brokenly. "My God! You bloody little swine! You think I don't care—you think you're the only soul that cares?"

"And yet you can sit there and drink champagne, and smoke cigars..."

It was as though Stanhope did not hear the interruption. "The one man I could trust," he went on. "The one man I could talk to as man to man—who understood everything—and you think I don't care..."

"But how can you when..."

"To forget, you little fool, to forget! Don't you understand? To forget! You think there's no limit to what a man can bear?" He turned quickly from Raleigh and stared at the dark corner of the dugout, by Osborne's bed. He stood with his face toward the wall, his shoulders heaving as he fought for breath. The dugout was very quiet.

At last Raleigh spoke.

"I'm awfully sorry, Dennis. I—I didn't understand."

Stanhope made no reply.

"You don't know how—I—"

"Go away, please—leave me alone."

But Jimmy Raleigh could not go like this. "Can't I—" he began. Stanhope turned on him. "Get out!" he begged. "For God's sake, get out!"

Raleigh crept away quietly to his own dugout. Despite his fatigue, he lay for a long time on his blanket, staring up at the dark, smoky beams of the ceiling. Now and then he shivered slightly, as though he were feverish; he was too bewildered and confused to put his thoughts into any clear and proper order. But, somehow, there was a general sensation of relief. The growing burden of the last few hours had shifted. At last he understood about Dennis. Osborne had gone, and nobody knew what would happen at dawn, but there was that one fact to cling to—he was sure it was right—things would be all right again between Dennis and himself. Stanhope lay for a long while crumpled up on Osborne's bed, his head buried in his arms. In his eyes were concentrated all his

What a Famous Artist Thinks About

Modern Girls and Their Clothes—The Education of Children—New-Fangled Paintings.

By MARGUERITE MARTYN.

A REGULAR he-man is James Montgomery Flagg, sun-browned, bushy eyebrows, with a lot of crisp graying hair upstanding over a deep forehead. Enthusiasm and virility are personified in the impression he creates, with his snappy utterances, couched in the vernacular of the man of the street. If anybody entertains the too popular conception of an artist as a vaguely described by him—that of a velvet-clad pommelian in pants, with a bowl of cocaine on one knee and a model on the other—the illusion is refreshingly shattered in the person of this most widely known and successful artist.

He says himself as he contemplates the piles of his drawings which have served their purpose and been returned to his studio, he believes he must have made more pictures than any man who ever lived.

And he has not only been drawing for 35 years the illustrations with which we are most familiar, due to their widespread publication, but has worked in water colors and oils as readily and, when the mood or occasion arose, expressed himself equally well in prose—he is the author of some 11 books—as a verse maker in lighter vein and as a humorist. He always has written the jokes accompanying his humorous sketches and he has done some plays. A conception of Abraham Lincoln lately completed in oils, he hopes he will be remembered longest by, since into it he has put long study and his most careful workmanship.

"That's nothing," he says of his versatility. "An artist should be able to create in any medium. It is only in America that we are expected to be specialists and a man who has once drawn a good ankle is henceforth ticketed an ankle artist and nothing else."

"Vitality," he told the Advertising Club, "guts and talent are the only things that we are expected to believe they must have been at least interdependent in his case. Fifty-three years he acknowledges and the magazines are as full of his illustrations as ever. He hasn't begun to slip up."

He came out from New York to address the Advertising Club on art in advertising but he has opinions on everything, opinions which, from his background of a rich and varied experience, carry authority. Having acted as judge in more beauty contests than probably any of his contemporaries, he always is consulted about popular types. He approached him from this angle at our interview, but, will-o-the-wisp, he veered off to an entirely different interest.

"Do you think there will be a swing of the pendulum from extreme modernism to more sedate manners and ethical standards along with the radical changes in styles we are observing?" he was asked.

"I hope not," he replied. "Women change their styles in dress. I have seen objects that making more use of the face. The falls go on falling. I like the new long skirts. But I hope the girls don't become old fashioned. And they won't. Human nature does not change."

"The modern girl is no better nor worse than her forebears. Eve is always Eve. She has got rid of a lot of inhibitions and she has become more conscious thereby. She has created a lot of talk. Her freedom, frankness, honesty have shocked a lot of people. But they haven't shocked me. I've always been modern. The world is only just catching up with me. I am glad to see old prudery dying out. I've always been in favor of calling a leg a leg, not a limb; a breast a breast, not a bosom. I am glad to see the world getting away from the nasty, dirty, particular era. Conditions under which the present generation is growing up are a great improvement over those of the last generation."

ONLY in his dress did Flagg betray a little estheticism. Or they may have been the latest styles in New York. He was wearing a dark brown coat with double-breasted matching waistcoat, tan striped flannel trousers, gray shirt and rather wide knitted dark tie.

"As I say, I've always been modern," he continued. "That is to say, I've gone through life shocking people. A remark I made when I was 9 years old has been handed down to me as an example of this. My father was telling me that I should respect him simply because he was my father. I am amused as replying, 'I respect you for what you are, not because you are my father.' I am a father now myself and I haven't revised that opinion. However, I do confess myself a little old-fashioned when it comes to some of the modern ideas of child training. These days, from the amount of literature and talk movements and study devoted to the child, to child psychology, a child hygiene and all that, you'd think the child was the most important member, not only of the family, but of society. In child hygiene I believe we have made progress but not so much in other directions."

"Nobody acknowledges the importance of safe guarding the child's generation more than I. But I believe the attention—the deference paid to the child is over emphasized."

His daughter, Faith, is 5-years old, a beautiful and intelligent child, he said. Nobody is more aware of this, probably not so well aware, as her doting father, but he realized nothing is more boring than other people's children.

He trotted out to amuse the child and have its own way up to a certain point, the point where a child is allowed to rule the roost. A solid point in his philosophy is not putting the child first. Adults, adolescents, elders have their place in the scheme of things so long as they remain in the world. If not the girl not more than 2½ years old, decidedly the most important member of the party in her own and her parents' eyes. She ought to have been at home in bed.

DAILY STORY FOR CHILDREN

By Mary Graham Bonner

The Birthday Rose

THE Little Black Clock had visited the evening garden and there they saw a tiny rose bush surrounded by many larger and more stately roses.

The tiny rose bush had been planted, "I'll turn the flower slowly now," the Black Clock said, "and we'll see how that rose bush blooms this year."

The Little Black Clock did not mind, and the rose bush seemed to grow lovelier and lovelier as the days went by.

They were single roses and opened wide after they had been closed for some time.

"I'll tell you what happened the Little Black Clock told children."

That rose bush was planted before you first saw it in the garden. It was a tiny bush in the house beyond the garden. It was called her rose bush each year since then it has been growing stronger and more beautiful all the time—to keep along the rose bush says, with the whose birthday is the same as birthday of the rose bush.

"But every birthday the rose bush has more roses upon it at any other time or day of year. That is so that the birthday girl can have a big bunch of roses from her own birthday rose bush."

"How lovely to have a little rose bush," Peggy said.

"Isn't it nice," agreed the Little Black Clock. "But dear me, we have a very long time to wait before we'll be getting back now. It's to be 'Wait and See' adventure."

Convenient Oilcloth

FOR the noon day lunch of women frequently select table covers of oil cloth. Other prepared fabrics in place of table linen. Many covers of this type are now made up in all colors and stamped with interesting patterns that do not wash off wear. Others are made up that they closely resemble linen in appearance.

These covers are especially convenient in serving meals to children with a tendency to spill liquid and greasy foods. A small cloth will cover finger marks on the table, leaving the covers clean and fresh as when they were new. If left in place with the regular table linen is sure to help to protect the surface of the table from scars and stains.

APRIL ESCAPADE

What Happened to a Girl Who Posed as a Rich Man's Wife

—By— KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER XXIV.

THE thought of her mother and the home kitchen, with little bits of bread on which brown sugar glistened, were like the dream of a mirage. Oh, the holiness, the utter refreshment of home, and her limp blue kitchen apron, and the dish towels that, all winter long above the stove, and that one finger towel, were so very dear to her.

And here she sat, in her nightgown and a man's wrapper, at 4 o'clock in the morning, looking at the Spanish walls, and the Spanish furniture, and a ridiculous medieval staircase winding up from the room itself, with a red cord balustrade.

When Mrs. Peters appeared, with a great, beautiful blanket and a man's wrapper, at 4 o'clock in the morning, looking at the Spanish walls, and the Spanish furniture, and a ridiculous medieval staircase winding up from the room itself, with a red cord balustrade.

It had been put into order now, and both beds were turned down. But there was a strangeness and chilliness about it, in the dead hour before dawn, that struck to Mary Kate's heart like an icicle. She lay down in the dressing gown, and pulled the covers over her, opening a book. But for a long time she could not read.

Mrs. Peters, observing silently that it wasn't likely that anything more would happen tonight, but that it surely did get on your nerves to have such going on in a place, climbed comfortably into her own bed and was instantly snoring heavily.

Mary Kate resented her snoring, her nervousness, and when all her quiet refusal to be drawn into her—Mary Kate's—affairs.

"My God!" prayed Mary Kate, covering her eyes with her hand, crouching down against her pillow, shuddering in the chilly gloom that comes before morning. "My God, what have I done?"

"Is it as easy as this," she thought, "for a girl to get it wrong? Is this all there is to it? Whether it was the coffee, or the food, or the dress, or her own tirelessly thrashing thoughts that kept her restless, the fact was that she was hopelessly awake, sleep was as absent from the possibilities of the moment as flight, or peace of mind, or coherent reflection."

Mary Kate tossed, twisted, sighed, started up nervously, and laid herself with an aching head and a dry throat, resolutely to sleep.

After awhile there was pearly light at the windows. Morning! And never had she longed so little to see the day.

The shapes of the furniture emerged slowly from the mass of shadows. The two glass doors, which alone the light was entering, for Mrs. Peters had turned and looked the window—saw a brighter gray.

Mary Kate had been cold, and shivering. But now she was shivering with the bad air of the room, which alone the light was entering, for Mrs. Peters had turned and looked the window—saw a brighter gray.

Suddenly she was out of bed. She slipped on the dressing-gown, and felt for her slippers. Notably, and not noticeably, crept out into the wet freshness and silence of the porch.

The garden was drenched with heavy dew, but already the warmth of the coming day was to be seen in the air, and the trees and shrubs, gray at a long time ago, were taking a few moments ago, were taking definite shape. Color was pouring into them; brown into the great gnarled oak boles, green into the young trembling leaves on the lilac trees. A great clump of bright green, stashed snowy streamers into the brightening air; the sad and subtle odor of wet earth and grass was cut by a sudden, equidistant breath of acacia.

Mary Kate huddled in a basket chair, wrapping about herself a plaid that had been folded across it. She saw the wet leaves glisten in the first shafts from the east and the stiff, curved leaves of the oak and the thin shredded foliage of the peapods to a look of shining gold. The sun dazzled bright in the upper leaves of the trees, sank down through the branches in broad banners and waves of warmth and brightness.

She went warily indoors, finding Mrs. Peters gone, and the neighboring bed flung open to air, with a certain Nordic thoroughness. Exhausted she flung herself once again on her bed, drawing the covers over her, wrapping all. And this time sleep found her almost instantly, deep, dream sleep, in which she could forget for a little while what had preceded the merciful oblivion, and must follow the inevitable awakening.

"This is Miss O'Hara, Te. Now, Miss O'Hara," said Constable Browning, looking up from an improvised doze, in that very living room of whose Spanish completeness

We Are Building an Institution in Radio

At the General Motors Radio

Corporation we have laid the foundation of a permanent, progressive business—and on this groundwork we are already raising the structure of an institution with ideals and ambitions quite different from those the radio industry has known. The men who represent us to you—our dealers—have met requirements which establish them, beyond doubt, as trustworthy, reputable merchants. Our product is distinctive in its design, in its appearance and in the way it performs. It reflects, we believe, the extraordinary value that our resources and our experience and our manufacturing abilities help us to create. We want you to prefer this product... and to base your preference as much on your confidence in the dealer who sells it and in us who make it, as on your appraisal of the product itself.

The General Motors Radio Corporation has entered the radio field providing more for you as a radio buyer than had previously been offered. Some of the ablest engineers in the radio industry have designed a chassis capable of truly exceptional performance. The Tone Selector gives you actual mastery of tone, with the turn of a knob. General Motors' vast experience in precision methods has created for you, at a moderate price, a product of exceptionally high quality—and one that is dependable and lasting.

The same consideration for the buyer is evident in our policy regarding cabinets. In appearance, the models of the new General Motors Radio are admirable adaptations of authentic period furniture. And in order that you may consider them as permanent possessions—as you would any example of fine cabinetwork—we shall design any future chassis or speaker so that it may be installed in these present cabinets, and you can always enjoy the latest thing in radio at the lowest possible cost.

We have developed these fine instruments... established a reputable, responsible organization of exclusive dealers... instituted national service... pledged ourselves to progressive manufacturing policies and conservative business principles—all, that you may find in radio the same assurance of value, of permanence and of fair-dealing that "Product of General Motors" has come to mean in other fields.

We ask you to judge the sincerity of our purpose and the value of our product by calling on the authorized General Motors Radio dealer in your community. His name appears below.

WELL KID, I HEAR YOU'RE NOT GOING TO GET A JOB
AS HELPER WITH THAT MINING OUTFIT.... THE FELLA TOOK ONE LOOK
WASNT RUNNIN' NO DAY
NURSERY...

WHAT DO I CARE WHAT
HE SAID?... I DIDNT
SAY I'D WORK FOR HIM
ANYHOW, AND IF HE CAME TO ME RIGHT NOW
'SAID, WILL YOU TAKE THE JOB I'D SAY
"NOTHIN' DOIN"

HAD ANOTHER TALK WITH CARSON, BOBBY, AND HE SAYS HELL GIVE YOU A TRIAL... YOU'LL HAVE TO SHINE TO LIVE UP TO THE PUFF
I GAVE YOU....!

THANKS A LOT
MR RYAN.... YOU TELL HIM I'M ALL READY, ANY TIME....
AND ASK HIM
WHEN IT

HOW ABOUT A DRIVE AND A DINNER AT PLANO SATURDAY NIGHT,
JEANETTE? YOU CAN BRING YOUR NURSE
ALONG—I IMAGINE
SHE'S PRETTY DONE
SOME HERE

OH BOBBY THAT SOUNDS WONDERFUL—I DON'T KNOW OF ANYTHING THAT WOULD SUIT ME BETTER BUT WERE LEAVING TOMORROW
FOR HOME

YOU DONT MEAN TO TELL ME YOU'RE LEAVING SO
SOON?... WHAT A DULL TOWN
THIS WILL BE AFTER YOU'RE GONE—I'VE BEEN LOOKING FORWARD TO THIS THING WITH A LOT OF REGRET—YOUR BEING HERE HAS BROUGHT ME MORE HAPPINESS THAN I DESERVE

HE REALLY CARES
FOR ME—YOU WOULDN'T THINK THAT A GUY WHO SPENT MOST OF HIS LIFE PLANNING
HOW HE COULD REVEAL SOMEBODY
FROM AN HONEST DOLLAR COULD WAY
SO SENTIMENTAL AND I'M BEGINNING TO LIKE IT. IT'S TIME FOR YOU TO GO, JEANETTE, YOUR MISSION IS NOT ONE OF
LOVE OR SENTIMENT

WALL STREET STOCKS OFF; NEW LOW FOR YEAR IS MADE BY U. S. STEEL

Losses of 3 to 10 Points or More Are Scattered Throughout the List at the Close of Most Hectic Saturday's Trading Since May 3 Record.

SALES APPROXIMATE 2,250,000 SHARES

Market Closes Virtually at Bottom for Day, Short Covering Failing to Appear in the Final Transactions — Case Has One of Its Wide Movements.

NEW YORK, June 7.—The stock market experienced a minor lull today, in the most hectic Saturday trading since the record Saturday turnover of May 3. Losses of 3 to 10 points or more were scattered throughout the list at the close, and several shares, including U. S. Steel, broke through the low levels of early day. Total sales were approximately 2,250,000 shares, compared to 4,800,000 on May 3. The persistent bear pressure this week finally dislodged a considerable volume of stock held by traders who have been growing increasingly discouraged with the market's inability to make any headway on the upside.

Discouraged Bulls Sell.
The weekend business news coming to hand was not of a character to steady the market. One of the most unsettling developments was the announcement that the stock exchange had granted permission to Radio Corporation of America to omit its quarterly earnings statement, in view of the difficulties presented by capital changes. Electrical world reported that equipment business was fair, "although the situation as a whole lacks vigor and snap." A small reaction in steel scrap prices at Chicago, after the recent increase at Pittsburgh, was somewhat disappointing to persons looking for a hardening of iron and steel prices. Trade reports from the Youngstown area stated that steel mill operations will undergo no further curtailment next week. Selling was undoubtedly swelled by liquidation of marginal accounts impaired by the rather abrupt drop late yesterday. Forced liquidation, however, was said in brokerage circles to be light, and such selling was not of professional bearish nature was largely of a discouraged sort. With business entering its summer lull, and efforts to resume the upward movement in stocks having met with distinct failure, short term holders of stocks saw little reason to retain their shares.

New 1936 Low on Steel.
U. S. Steel closed at 16 1/2, off 2 1/2, after touching 16 1/4, a new low for the year, and 14 points above the low of last November. The market closed virtually at the bottom, short covering failing to appear in the final transactions. Among the erratic issues, Case had one of its wide movements, closing at 250, off 18 1/2. Shares losing about 6 to 10 points included Allied Chemical, Vanadium, Worthington, Foster Wheeler, Macy, Byers, Westinghouse Electric and Houston Oil. Such shares as Radio, American Can, General Electric, International Telephone, North American and Loew's lost 3 to 4 points. American Telephone, Patamout and General Motors lost only about a point and several of the food shares were relatively steady. Gold Dust and General Foods losing only a point. Foreign exchanges were fairly steady. Sterling cables were unchanged at $4.85 1/2, and Shanghai improved a little with silver firming.

The commodity markets, cotton again eased, with futures closing 70 to 80 cents a bale lower. Stock prices with other tables and market news will be found on pages 23, 83 and 93.
